Dave Mixer

Founding Partner

Mr. Mixer co-founded Columbia Capital, now a $1.4B+ venture capital firm focused on the communications industry. Mr. Mixer also co-founded Rex Capital with Mr. Martirano, an early stage venture capital firm focused on technology investments. Almost two years ago, he began focusing on China related business opportunities and is a co-founder of Hidden Jade, a venture capital firm in China. Dave spends much of his time helping PJC companies develop strategies for the Chinese market. Over a nearly 20 year investing career, he has been a member of the investment committee for [redacted] investments, for an aggregate of over [redacted] invested and in excess of [redacted] returned. He holds a BA from Union College and an MBA from Harvard Business School.

Lee Hower

Senior Associate

Mr. Hower joined PJC in 2005, having spent several years in venture-backed startups. An early employee at PayPal (IPO 2002, later acq. by eBay), he served as Director, Financial Services. Later he was a co-founder of LinkedIn, backed by Sequoia, Greylock, and Bessemer, and as Director of Corporate Development helped raise the company's Series A. Mr. Hower attended the University of Pennsylvania, earning a BAS in Engineering and a BS from the Wharton School, and was selected as Wharton's Commencement Speaker. He is a member of the advisory board to the Internet Technology & Digital Media Initiative sponsored by the State of Rhode Island.

PJC Venture Partner Bios

Mike Doyle

Venture Partner

Most recently, Mr. Doyle was CEO of AHS, a medical billing technology company. Prior to that, Mr. Doyle was CEO of Salesnet, an on-demand CRM software provider. Prior to Salesnet, he co-founded Standish Care Company, a provider of assisted-living and long-term care services. Standish Care went public in 1992, the first US assisted living company to be publicly traded, and subsequently merged with CareMatrix Corporation. Mr. Doyle currently sits on the boards of the Winchester Hospital Foundation and the Brooks School. He holds a BS from Tufts University and an MBA from the University of Chicago.

Jeff Weiss

Venture Partner

Mr. Weiss has been a founder of and held various technical and management roles in a number of hardware and communications companies. He was VP Engineering of Digital LightCircuits, co-founder and CTO of Omnia Communications (acq. by Ciena), VP of Systems Architecture for Ciena, and co-founder of Magnalink Communications (acq. by Telco Systems). Earlier in his career he was an engineer at Bendix Corporation and IBM's Thomas Watson Research Center. He holds a BS from MIT and an MS from Columbia University.

Brad Waugh

Venture Partner

Mr. Waugh was founder and CEO of Watch Hill Partners (acq. by MasterCard in 2004), which helps Fortune 1000 companies improve ROI on wireless CRM technology. Previously he was President of the Flexhosting Division at Akibia and EVP at Covansys. He joined Covansys through the acquisition of his previous company, C.W. Costello, where he served as acting President. He was formerly President of the Rhode Island Technology Council and board member of the Boston University School of Management, where he received a BA/BS in MIS and Industrial Marketing.
