- ▶ 2019 & 2020 No cases remanded from Superior Court or Workers Compensation Court to Board

Recommendations by the Committee to the Board

- ▶ For each Disability Committee meeting, the Board is provided a list of all adjudicated applications by the Committee and their recommendations for which a vote is required by the Board.
- ▶ The applications which are denied or reversed require a written decision and a transcript (if applicable) for the Board to vote.
 - Board members would then see applications on the agenda for which a vote is not yet recommend by the Committee.
 - This is due to timing of written decisions by Legal Counsel and approval by the Committee.

I. MATTERS WITH PROCEDURAL OR SUBSTANTIVE CHANGES

Sandra Tiernan v. Frank Caprio et al.

Providence County Superior Court; CA No. PC-2009-7242

Supreme Court C.A. No. SU-2019-101-MP, consolidated with SU-2019-306-A Change. This declaratory judgment action arises out of the setoff of workers compensation benefits from disability pension benefits. A Stipulation was filed on January 27, 2010 in the administrative appeal prematurely filed with the Superior Court, postponing the filing of an Answer and the Administrative Record pending the conclusion of the administrative proceedings. The Retirement Board has affirmed the administrative actions taken by the Executive Director. Ms. Tiernan filed a motion to amend her complaint to include a claim based on an administrative appeal under the Administrative Procedures Act. The motion to amend was granted, and the Retirement Board filed an answer to the amended complaint. Ms. Tiernan subsequently was allowed to amend her complaint a second time, to include a claim based on estoppel. The issues were fully briefed, and the matter was assigned to Ms. Justice Keough for decision. On July 10, 2018, the Court issued a decision on the agency appeal fully affirming the Retirement Board's decision. The parties then asked the Court to issue a supplemental decision addressing all of the counts of the complaint, in order for an appeal to be properly taken on a complete record. On November 26, 2018, the Court issued a supplemental decision ruling in favor of the Retirement Board on all counts. Ms. Tiernan filed a petition for writ of certiorari and an appeal with the Rhode Island Supreme Court. A pre-briefing conference was held on March 5, 2020. On April 10, 2020, the Court granted the writ and consolidated the actions. The parties filed Rule 12A Statements and the Court set a schedule for full briefing. After multiple extensions, Ms. Tiernan filed her Brief with the Rhode Island Supreme Court on October 25, 2020. ERSRI filed its brief on February 1, 2021. Ms. Tiernan requested to re-schedule the oral argument before the Supreme Court pending a decision on the petition for certiorari filed in her pending workers' compensation case. The Supreme Court granted the continuance for purposes of consolidating the oral arguments should the petition for certiorari be granted.

Timothy Koback v. Employees' Retirement System of Rhode Island

Workers' Compensation Court; No. 201607082

Supreme Court C.A. No. SU-2019-0423-MP

Change. Timothy Koback, a Woonsocket firefighter, appeals the denial of his application for an accidental disability pension pursuant to R.I.G.L. §45-21.2-9 to the Workers' Compensation Court. ERSRI has filed the designation of record with the court. The Woonsocket Human Resources

Director was deposed. The applicant's initial petition for benefits was denied, and a claim for trial taken. Trial was conducted on August 2, 2017, at which Mr. Koback testified. On February 8, 2018 the Court issued a decision granting Mr. Koback an accidental disability pension and indicating that a counsel fee would be awarded to Mr. Koback's counsel. On May 4, 2018, the Court issued a decree awarding a counsel fee to Mr. Koback's counsel. MERS objected to the awarding of a counsel fee and filed an appeal with the Appellate Division of the Workers' Compensation Court. In October of 2019 the Appellate Division issued a decision affirming the trial court and awarded an additional attorneys' fee to Mr. Koback's counsel for successful prosecution of the appeal at the Appellate Division. MERS filed a petition for certiorari with the Rhode Island Supreme Court and requested an emergency stay of the order awarding a counsel fee. On November 18, 2019, the Supreme Court granted a stay and granted the petition for writ of certiorari. Both parties filed their 12A Statements. A prebriefing conference was held on October 20, 2020 and the matter was assigned to the full briefing calendar. MERS filed its Brief on January 29, 2021 and Koback filed his brief on February 19, 2021. Oral argument before the Supreme Court took place on May 13, 2021.

The order and final judgment were entered on April 19, 2021 and Plaintiff had twenty (20) days, or up to May 10, 2021 to appeal. Plaintiff did not appeal the decision and judgment of the Court. Retirement Board v. Fred Randall

Providence County Superior Court; C.A. No. PC-2015-0203 Supreme Court C.A. No. SU-2018-0212-A

Change. This is an action to revoke or reduce Mr. Randall's pension pursuant to the Public Employee Pension Revocation and Reduction Act. Mr. Randall, a former employee of the University of Rhode Island, pled nolo contendere to a charge of conversion by a state employee. A hearing wherein Mr. Randall was required to appear and show cause why his pension benefits should not be suspended pending adjudication of the merits of the action took place on March 2, 2014. The Court determined that cause was not shown by Mr. Randall and ordered that his pension benefits be immediately suspended pending adjudication of the action on the merits. An evidentiary hearing was conducted on July 7, 2016. The court issued a decision revoking Mr. Randall's pension in full, and awarding Mrs. Randall $350.00 per month from the date of trial through December 31, 2016, and $1,667.00 per month from January 1, 2017 until December 31, 2026 as an innocent spouse, conditioned upon her paying said sums over to URI to satisfy Mr. Randall's restitution payments. The Court ruled that thereafter, once the restitution obligations have been satisfied, she should receive $500.00 per month. The Court also ruled that no contributions shall be returned until the order of restitution has been satisfied. Mr. Randall has filed an appeal with the Rhode Island Supreme Court. The parties filed a joint motion to stay enforcement of the judgment pending resolution of the issues on appeal, which motion was granted. The Supreme Court issued an Order remanding the case to the Superior Court for further development of the record related to the entry of Judgment and the timeliness of Defendant's appeal. After further proceedings in the Superior Court related to the entry of Judgment and the timeliness of Defendant's appeal, the matter has been returned to the Rhode Island Supreme Court. The parties filed 12A statements and the Supreme Court ordered full briefing. Appellant has filed his Brief. ERSRI filed its Brief on May 29, 2020. Oral argument before the Supreme Court was conducted on March 11, 2021. The Supreme Court issued its decision on May 5, 2021. The Supreme Court affirmed the revocation of Mr. Randall's pension, vacated that portion of Judge Lanphear's decision that directed Mrs. Randall's innocent spouse payments to be paid over to URI to satisfy her husband's restitution obligations, and remanded the case back to Judge Lanphear for recalculation of benefits due the innocent spouse in light of the decision. The Court also held that it was error for Judge Lanphear to not consider the payment of Mr. Randall's contributions to satisfy the restitution obligation and remanded the case to consider whether Mr. Randall's return of contributions should be applied towards his outstanding restitution.

ERSRI served Ms. Proietti and she failed to answer, plead or otherwise respond to the Complaint. ERSRI filed an application for entry of default which was entered on February 11, 2021. ERSRI subsequently filed a Motion for Entry of Default Judgment. After hearing, the Superior Court granted ERSRI's Motion for Entry of Default Judgment and ordered that Ms. Proietti's pension be revoked in full, that she is entitled to a return of her contributions in the amount of $2,669.12, and that she has forfeited her entitlement to a pension benefit from ERSRI. Final judgment entered on May 10, 2021. Ms. Proietti has twenty (20) days, or up to and including June 1, 2021 to appeal.

On October 17, 2014, the Superior Court denied Ms. Leyden's motion. On February 14, 2015, the Subcommittee again denied Leyden's application for accidental disability retirement. Dear Chairperson Quinn:

This office represents the Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island and the Municipal Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island (the "Retirement Board"). At its regularly-scheduled meeting of January 13, 2021, the Retirement Board unanimously voted to seek an advisory opinion from the Ethics Commission (the "Commission") pursuant to R.I.G.L. §36-14-11 and 520-RICR-00-00-2.7, with regard to the circumstances under which members of the Board may participate in adjudication of disability pension applications, and/or contested administrative hearings.

The Retirement Board is seeking updated and clarified guidance from the Commission with regard to the ability of Board members to participate in disability and contested administrative actions in light of the varied roles held by members of the Board, including public officials, designees and elected members that serve by virtue of the Board's enabling legislation, as well as members that participate in certain outside organizations. The Board has been acting under guidance previously provided to an individual Board member in 1998 (In re: John Maguire, A.O. 98-156), and to the Board as a whole in 2013 and 2014 in connection with certain pension reform litigation (In re: Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island; A.O. No. 2013-14 and A.O. 2014-30). The Retirement Board now seeks clarification with regard to specific questions not addressed in these previous advisory opinions.

I. Background and Retirement Board Composition

The Retirement Board is an independent board “created and established in the office of the general treasurer,” and “shall hold and administer, in trust, the funds of the retirement system . . . and shall perform such functions as authorized by law.” R.I.G.L. §36-8-4. The “general administration and the responsibility for the proper operation of the retirement system . . . are . . . vested in [the] retirement board.” R.I.G.L. §36-8-3. The Employees’ Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island (“ERSRI”) itself is “established and placed under the management of the retirement board for the purpose of providing retirement allowances for employees of the state of Rhode Island . . .” R.I.G.L. §36-8-2. The Municipal Employees’ Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island (“MERS”), is similarly “established and placed under the management of the retirement board created by chapter 8 of title 36, for the purpose of providing retirement allowances for employees of participating municipalities . . . and benefits to the survivors of those employees.” R.I.G.L. §45-21-32. The Retirement Board has 15 members, constituted as follows:

[T]he general treasurer or his or her designee who shall be a subordinate within the general treasurer's office; the director of administration or his or her designee who shall be a subordinate within the department of administration; a representative of the budget office or his or her designee from within the budget office, who shall be appointed by the director of administration; the president of the league of cities and towns or his or her designee; two (2) active state employee members of the retirement system or officials from state employee unions to be elected by active state employees; two (2) active teacher members of the retirement system or officials from a teachers union to be elected by active teachers; one active municipal employee member of the retirement system or an official from a municipal employees union to be elected by active municipal employees; two (2) retired members of the retirement system to be elected by retired members of the system; and four (4) public members, all of whom shall be competent by training or experience in the field of finance, accounting or pensions; two (2) of the public members shall be appointed by the governor, one of whom shall serve an initial term of three (3) years and one of whom shall serve an initial term of four (4) years and until his or her successor is appointed and qualified; and two (2) of the public members shall be appointed by the general treasurer, one of whom shall serve an initial term of three (3) years and one of whom shall serve an initial term of four (4) years and until his or her successor is appointed and qualified.

R.I.G.L. §36-8-4. The Retirement Board meets at least quarterly, and provides oversight to, and management of the Employees’ Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island, and the Municipal Employees’ Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island. The Board’s four Subcommittees meet at least monthly.

In connection with carrying out their official duties with regard to the retirement systems, Retirement Board members are fiduciaries of the systems and are subject to certain statutory obligations. R.I.G.L. §36-8-4.1 requires, in pertinent part, that:

- (a) A member of the board shall discharge duties with respect to the retirement system:
 - (1) Solely in the interest of the participants and beneficiaries;
 - (2) For the exclusive purpose of providing benefits to participants and beneficiaries and paying reasonable expenses of administering the system;
 - (3) With the care, skill, and caution under the circumstances then prevailing which a prudent person acting in a like capacity and familiar with those matters would use in the conduct of an activity of like character and purpose;
 - (4) Impartially, taking into account any differing interests of participants and beneficiaries;
 - (5) Incurring only costs that are appropriate and reasonable; and
 - (6) In accordance with a good-faith interpretation of the law governing the retirement system.

Id. In carrying out their fiduciary obligations, members of the Retirement Board must administer the system in accordance with the law governing the retirement systems, and must act solely in the interest of the members and their beneficiaries. Id.

Under the Code of Ethics, members of the Retirement Board “may not participate in any matter in which they have an interest, financial or otherwise, which is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of [their] duties in the public interest.” Ethics Commission Advisory Opinion No. 98-156 (citing R.I.G.L. §36-14-5). In Advisory Opinion No. 98-156, the Commission concluded that a member of the Retirement Board should recuse from matters before the Board involving members of a labor union in which the Board member held a leadership position. See id. The Commission also concluded that recusal was appropriate with regard to matters concerning Executive Board members of the AFL-CIO, where the Retirement Board member was himself a member of the AFL-CIO Executive Board. The Commission suggested that based upon prior opinions, a “leadership position” within an organization is one that “permit[s] them to affect the financial objectives of the organization”, and that holding such a leadership position in an organization would make a Board member a “business associate” of that organization for purposes of requiring recusal under the Code of Ethics when another member of that organization appears before the Board.

In A.O. 2013-14, the Commission held that the Code of Ethics requires members of the Board who hold leadership positions in an organization that initiated litigation against the Board, to recuse from participation, including discussions and decision-making, relative to that litigation. The Commission excused members of the Board who were named as a defendant in their official capacity, or who were appointed to a public office by such a named defendant, from the recusal requirement. In A.O. 2014-30, the Commission concluded that members who are required to recuse from the Board's discussions and decision-making relating to the pending pension reform litigation, must similarly recuse from participation in the Board's approval of a proposed budget that included funding for the Board's legal defense in that litigation.

The advisory opinions addressed above did not specifically address, however, the role of individual Board members that participate in disability adjudications or contested administrative hearings. In connection with each of the questions posed below, the factual scenario prompting this request for Ethics Commission guidance arises where the respective Board members do not know the individual applicant or aggrieved member. More specifically, the question was raised as to whether or not ex-officio Board members such as the General Treasurer or the Director of Administration, appointees of either ex-officio members or State General Officers, elected representatives or members affiliated with a given labor organization, have obligations to recuse under the Code of Ethics even where they do not know and/or have not had any personal contact with the disability applicant or aggrieved member, and in the case of members affiliated with labor organizations, no perceptible financial benefit will result to the organization based upon the outcome of the disability or administrative matter being adjudicated by the Board.

In A.O. 2018-44 (In re: Derek M. Silva), the Commission found that the Code of Ethics does not prevent a member of the State Labor Relations Board who also holds a leadership position in a labor union, from participating in Labor Relations Board matters involving parties other than the union in which he holds a leadership position, when such other parties are represented by an attorney who has in the past, or is currently, representing that union or its members in unrelated matters. In that advisory opinion, the Petitioner requested guidance and clarification on whether or not recusal is required "even in cases where such attorney is neither representing the interests of Local 799 or its members at the time, and where the matter on which such attorney is appearing does not financially impact Local 799." Id. (emphasis added). The Commission noted that "[a] substantial conflict of interest exists if an official has reason to believe or expect that he, any person within his family, a business associate or an employer will derive a direct monetary gain or suffer a direct monetary loss by reason of his official activity." Ultimately the Commission concluded that although the Petitioner was a business associate of Local 799, he was not automatically and by extension a business associate of any and all attorneys hired by Local 799 to represent it or its members, and therefor was not required to recuse from participating in matters involving parties other than Local 799 or its members when the union or its members are represented by an attorney or attorneys who had presently or in the past represented the union or its members in unrelated matters. The questions raised in the instant request for Ethics Commission guidance similarly implicate the factual scenario where there is not expected to be a financial benefit to a Retirement Board member's affiliated organization associated with the outcome of a disability application or a contested administrative matter.

Given the passage of time since the last advisory opinions were issued, the current makeup of the Retirement Board, the need for representative diversity on standing sub-committees, and the need for clarity amongst members of the Retirement Board striving to carry out their fiduciary obligations in a manner fully consistent with the law, it was deemed appropriate and advisable to seek this Ethics Commission opinion.

A. Individual Retirement Board Members

Below describes the current constitution of the Retirement Board, and where applicable their respective roles as either a public official, a designee of a public official, or a class representative, along with any applicable disclosed affiliation with an organized labor union:

1. General Treasurer Seth Magaziner. Mr. Magaziner is the General Treasurer of the State of Rhode Island, and thereby serves as ex-officio Chairperson of the Retirement Board.
2. Brett Smiley. Mr. Smiley is the Director of Administration, and thereby serves ex-officio as a member of the Retirement Board.
3. Thomas Mullaney. Mr. Mullaney is the State Budget Officer, and serves as a member of the Retirement Board as appointed by the Director of Administration.

She is also the Secretary-Treasurer of AFSCME, Council 94, which duties include verifying financial reports, and signing checks in accordance with the Council's Constitution or as authorized by the convention or the executive board. She is also a member of the RI Council 94's Executive Board, and is part of the governing body of the council in between conventions. All matters affecting the policies, aims, and means of accomplishing the purposes of the council not specifically designated in the Constitution or Convention are decided by the Executive Board. Ms. Newell is also the Local President of Council 94, AFSCME, Local

10. Roger Boudreau. Mr. Boudreau is elected by retired members of the Retirement System to serve on the Retirement Board. He is also President of the R.I. AFT/R Local 8037. As President of R.I. AFT/R Local 8037, Mr. Boudreau also sits ex-officio on the Executive Board of the Rhode Island Federation of Teachers and Health Professionals.
11. Raymond J. Pouliot. Mr. Pouliot is elected by retired members of the Retirement System to serve on the Retirement Board. He also serves as President of the National Education Association Rhode Island Retired Local, and is a Regional Vice President of the National Education Association Rhode Island.
12. Mark A. Carruolo. Mr. Carruolo is a public member of the Retirement Board, appointed by the Governor.
13. Jean Rondeau. Mr. Rondeau is a public member of the Retirement Board, appointed by the Governor.

14. Dr. Laura Shawhughes. Dr. Shawhughes is a public member of the Retirement Board, appointed by the General Treasurer.

15. Lisa A. Whiting. Ms. Whiting is a public member of the Retirement Board, appointed by the General Treasurer.

The members of the Retirement Board affiliated with labor unions have each represented that they are unaware of any specific financial impact on their respective unions associated with the grant or denial of a disability pension application, or the adjudication of a contested administrative hearing.

II. Disability Adjudications

By regulation, the Retirement Board has established certain standing subcommittees in order to facilitate the operations of the Board. See 120-RICR-00-00-1.1.1 (K)(2). Relevant to the instant request for guidance is the Disability Subcommittee: “the Subcommittee on Disabilities shall review all applications for ordinary and accidental disability allowances, and make recommendations for the disposition of claims, and shall conduct hearings as required.” Id. The Disability Subcommittee meets monthly to adjudicate applications and conduct appeal hearings as required. Each Subcommittee, including the Disability Subcommittee, consists of five (5) members appointed by the General Treasurer. The following Retirement Board members currently serve on the Disability Subcommittee: Dr. Laura Shawhughes, Claire Newell, Thomas Lambert, Brian M. Daniels, and Kara DiPaola (designee of the General Treasurer). The specific procedures associated with review and adjudication of disability pension applications are governed by the regulation process set forth in 120-RICR-00-00-1.9.

The Retirement Board as a whole votes at regular meetings on the recommendations of the Disability Subcommittee.

III. Contested Hearings

By regulation, the Retirement Board also affords an administrative hearing process to members of the systems aggrieved by administrative actions other than disability decisions. See 120-RICR-00-00-1.4. Specifically, “[a]ny member aggrieved by an administrative action other than a Disability decision, may request a hearing of such grievance. Upon such request, the matter will be deemed a contested case.” Id. In the event that the hearing process is triggered, the regulations call for the appointment of an independent Hearing Officer, who “shall hear the matter, find facts and offer conclusions of law to the Retirement Board. The decision of a Hearing Officer shall be subject to approval by the full Retirement Board.” Id. Following a recommendation of the Hearing Officer, the aggrieved member is provided with an additional right to “make exceptions, to file briefs and to make oral arguments before the Retirement Board.” The Retirement Board ultimately votes as a whole on the Hearing Officer's recommendation, and adjudicates the underlying administrative action appealed by the aggrieved member.

IV. Specific Questions of the Ethics Commission:

- a. Does an elected Retirement Board member have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from the adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of the class that elected that Board member?
- b. Does an ex-officio Retirement Board member such as the General Treasurer or the Director of Administration, or a member appointed by either an ex-officio member or a State General Officer pursuant to statute, have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from the adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of the class that the ex-officio Board member or the State General Officer represents in his or her official capacity? More specifically, do the General Treasurer, Director of Administration, or any of their appointees, have obligations to recuse from adjudications involving state employees?
- c. Does the President of the League of Cities and Towns, or his or her designee, have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from the adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving an employee of a municipality that is a member of the League of Cities and Towns?
- d. Do any of the Board members described above hold "leadership positions" in labor organizations such that recusal would be required if a member of the labor organization appears before the Board or a subcommittee thereof in connection with a disability application or an administrative hearing, even if the Board member does not know the disability applicant or aggrieved member, and the outside organization will not be impacted by adjudication of the disability application or administrative appeal?
- e. Does a Retirement Board member holding an officer or director position in an umbrella labor union have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of the same union if the member is in a different local unit of the organization than the Retirement Board member, and/or the Retirement Board member does not know the member, and/or the outcome of the disability application or the administrative hearing will have no impact on either the umbrella organization or the local unit?
- f. Does a Retirement Board member holding an officer or director position in a local unit of an umbrella labor organization have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of the same local unit even if the Retirement Board member does not know the member, and the outcome of the disability application or the administrative hearing will have no impact on the umbrella organization or the local unit?

- g. Does a Retirement Board member holding an officer or director position in a local unit of an umbrella labor organization have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from adjudication of a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of a different local unit of the same umbrella labor organization, if the Retirement Board member does not know the member, and the outcome of the disability application or the administrative hearing will have no impact on the umbrella organization or the local unit?
- h. Does a Retirement Board member holding an officer or director position with the Rhode Island AFL-CIO have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving either a member of the Rhode Island AFL-CIO or a member of the Executive Board of the Rhode Island AFL-CIO, if the Retirement Board member does not know the applicant, and the outcome of the disability application or the administrative hearing will have no impact on either the Rhode Island AFL-CIO or any of its constituent labor union members?
- i. Does a Retirement Board member who also holds a position on the Executive Board of an umbrella labor organization have a conflict of interest requiring recusal from a disability application or a contested administrative hearing involving a member of that union if he or she does not know the applicant, and the outcome of the disability application or the administrative hearing will have no impact on the union?
- j. Should required recusals by members of the Disability Subcommittee or the full retirement board jeopardize the ability to attain and maintain a quorum, what options are available to the Board and Subcommittee to continue to carry out their statutory and fiduciary charges?

The Retirement Board requests guidance on these matters as soon as is practicable, given the ongoing statutory responsibility of the fiduciary members to conduct the business of the retirement systems, and the varied nature of the business conducted routinely, including the regular adjudication of disability appeals and contested administrative hearings. Please do not hesitate to contact me directly should you have any questions, or should you need any clarification with regard to the issues I have outlined herein. I look forward to receiving your response.

Very truly yours,

Michael P. Robinson

RHODE ISLAND ETHICS COMMISSION

Draft Advisory Opinion

Hearing Date: May 18, 2021

Re: Members of the Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island

QUESTION PRESENTED:

The Petitioners, members of the Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island, by a unanimous vote, request an advisory opinion regarding what restrictions, if any, the Code of Ethics places upon certain Retirement Board members with respect to participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings, given that some Retirement Board members are state or municipal elected officials or employees, and others are affiliated with national, state, and local labor or other organizations, under circumstances where the participants at said disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings might include individuals who elected certain Retirement Board members, are state or municipal employees, or are members of the same national, state, or local labor or other organizations as those with which certain Retirement Board members are affiliated.

RESPONSE:

It is the opinion of the Rhode Island Ethics Commission that a Retirement Board member is prohibited by the Code of Ethics from participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings if he or she has reason to believe or expect that a direct monetary gain or a direct monetary loss will accrue, by virtue of his or her official activity, to himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, or his or her employer. Also, a Retirement Board member shall not use his or her public position, or confidential information received through his or her public position, to obtain financial gain, other than that provided by law, for himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, or his or her employer. A Retirement Board member is further prohibited by the Code of Ethics from participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings if any person within his or her family or household, his or her business associate, his or her employer, or anyone authorized to appear on behalf of any person within his or her family or household, his or her business associate, or his or her employer, appears to present evidence or arguments before the Retirement Board.

The Petitioners are members of the Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island ("Retirement Board"). The Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island ("ERSRI") was statutorily established "for the purpose of providing retirement allowances for employees of the State of Rhode Island" R.I. Gen. Laws § 36-8-2. The Municipal Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island ("MERS") was similarly established "for the purpose of providing retirement allowances for employees of participating municipalities . . . and benefits to the survivors of those employees." Section 45-21-32. Together, the ERSRI and the MERS are commonly referred to as the "retirement system," which is managed by the Retirement Board. The Retirement Board is an independent board, created and established in the Rhode Island Office of the General Treasurer, to "hold and administer, in trust, the funds of the retirement system . . . [and] shall perform such functions as authorized by law." Section 36-8-4. The "general administration and the responsibility for the proper operation of the retirement system . . . are . . . vested in [the] [R]etirement [B]oard." 36-8-3.

The Retirement Board has fifteen (15) members and is statutorily constituted as follows:

- (1) The General Treasurer or designee;
- (2) The Director of Administration or designee;
- (3) A representative of the Budget Office (or designee), appointed by the Director of Administration;
- (4) The President of the League of Cities and Towns or designee;
- (5) & (6) Two active state employee members of the retirement system, or officials from a state employee union, elected by active state employees;
- (7) & (8) Two active teacher members of the retirement system or officials from a teachers union, elected by active teachers;
- (9) An active municipal employee member of the retirement system or an official from a municipal employees union, elected by active municipal employees;
- (10) & (11) Two retired members of the retirement system, elected by retired members of the system;
- (12) & (13) Two public members skilled in finance, accounting or pensions, appointed by the Governor; and
- (14) & (15) Two public members skilled in finance, accounting or pensions, appointed by the General Treasurer.

Section 36-8-4.

The Retirement Board has established certain standing subcommittees in order to facilitate its operations. For example, and relative to the instant request, the Disability Subcommittee, composed of five Retirement Board members, meets each month to review an average of twelve applications for ordinary and accidental disability allowances ("applications") that are first screened by a team of three medical examiners. The Disability Subcommittee then makes its recommendations to the Retirement Board which then votes as a whole concerning the disposition of the applications.¹ The Retirement Board also affords an administrative hearing process to members of the system aggrieved by administrative actions other than disability decisions. The grievance is reviewed by the Retirement Board's Executive Director, who then issues a decision. In the event that the aggrieved member wishes to appeal the decision of the Executive Director, an independent hearing officer is appointed to hear the matter, find facts, and offer conclusions of law to the Retirement Board. The aggrieved member may make exceptions, file briefs, and make oral arguments before the Retirement Board in response to the hearing officer's recommendation. The Retirement Board then votes as a whole on the hearing officer's recommendation, and adjudicates the underlying administrative action appealed by the aggrieved member. The Retirement Board adjudicates approximately three to five contested administrative hearings per year.

Members of the Retirement Board include a state elected official, several state and municipal employees, and at least one employee of a private entity. Other Retirement Board members currently hold leadership positions as officers and/or executive board members with national, state, and local labor organizations, including the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations ("AFL-CIO"); the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees ("AFSCME"), RI Council 94; and the AFSCME, Council 94, Local 2872 (collectively, "labor unions"). Some of the same Retirement Board members, and a number of other Retirement Board members, currently hold leadership positions as officers and/or executive board members with other national, state, and local labor organizations, including the National Education Association of Rhode Island ("NEARI"); the NEARI Retired Local; the Rhode Island Federation of Teachers and Health Professionals ("RIFTHP"), and the RI AFT/R Local 8037 (collectively, "teacher unions"). The Retirement Board members who are affiliated with labor unions and teacher unions have each represented that, to the best of their knowledge, the granting or denial of a person's disability pension application or the adjudication of a person's contested administrative hearing has no specific financial impact upon their respective labor organizations.

Cognizant of the Code of Ethics, and desirous of conducting themselves in conformance therewith, the members of the Retirement Board seek general guidance from the Ethics Commission concerning potential conflicts of interest resulting from their various state, municipal, union, or other private affiliations. Specifically, the members of the Retirement Board are concerned about whether or not the Code of Ethics prohibits them from participating in discussions and voting relative to disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings involving members of the class that elected or appointed them; their constituents; employees of the same state agency or municipality; members of labor unions and teacher unions within which Retirement Board members hold leadership positions; and their private employers. Finally, the members of the Retirement Board request general guidance regarding what options are available to continue to carry out their statutory and fiduciary duties in the event that required recusals by members of the Disability Subcommittee or the Full Retirement Board jeopardize the ability to attain and maintain a quorum.

Under the Code of Ethics, a public official may not participate in any matter in which he or she has an interest that is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his or her duties or employment in the public interest. Section 36-14-5(a). A public official will have an interest that is in substantial conflict with the proper discharge of his or her duties or employment in the public interest if he or she has reason to believe or expect that a direct monetary gain or a direct monetary loss will accrue, by virtue of his or her official activity, to the official himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, his or her employer, or any business which he or she represents. Section 36-14-7(a). Additionally, section 36-14-5(d) of the Code of Ethics prohibits a public official from using his or her public position, or confidential information received through his or her public position, to obtain financial gain, other than that provided by law, for himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, or his or her employer.

Further, under Commission Regulation 520-RICR-00-00-1.2.1 Additional Circumstances Warranting Recusal (36-14-5002) (“Regulation 1.2.1”), a public official must generally recuse from participation in any matter if any person within his or her family or household, his or her business associate, his or her employer, or any person authorized by any person within his family or household, his or her business associate, or his or her employer to appear on behalf of said family or household member, business associate, or employer, appears or presents evidence or arguments before the public official’s state or municipal agency, unless one of the two exceptions found at Regulation 1.2.1(b) applies. A business associate is defined as “a person joined together with another person to achieve a common financial objective.” Section 36-14-2(3). A person is defined as “an individual or a business entity.” Section 36-14-2(7).

The Ethics Commission has consistently concluded that persons are “business associates” of the entities for which they serve as either officers or members of the Board of Directors, or in some other leadership position that permits them to direct and affect the financial objectives of the organization. Consistent therewith, the Ethics Commission has previously noted that members of the Retirement Board who held leadership positions in labor unions were business associates of those organizations. See A.O. 2013-14. See also A.O. 2014-14 (opining that the Director of the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management (“RIDEM”), who was also a Director of the Rhode Island Boy Scouts (“Boy Scouts”), was a business associate of the Boy Scouts and, therefore, was required to recuse from participating in any RIDEM decisions that would financially impact the Boy Scouts, as well as from any matters in which a Boy Scout representative appeared to represent the organization’s interests).

The Ethics Commission has also consistently concluded that the Code of Ethics does not consider the relationship between a public official and a public body, such as a state or municipal agency, to be that of “business associates.” See, e.g., A.O. 2011-29 (opining that a member of the Portsmouth Planning Board, who was also employed as a civil engineer for the Rhode Island Department of Transportation (“RIDOT”), could participate in the Planning Board’s consideration of a development proposal, notwithstanding that in her capacity as a RIDOT-employed engineer the petitioner had been reviewing the same property to ensure that the state’s property interests were protected, because neither the RIDOT nor the Planning Board were considered “businesses” and, therefore, the “business associate” prohibitions that would have otherwise constrained the petitioner while carrying out her public duties did not apply).

While it is clear that a Retirement Board member who serves in a leadership capacity for a labor organization is considered a business associate of the organization itself, the question of whether he is or she is also a business associate of each of the organization’s individual members has undergone a shifting analysis and understanding over the years. More than twenty years ago, the Ethics Commission took the position that a public official was prohibited from participating in matters concerning members of the same private organization within which the public official served in a leadership position. For example, in Advisory Opinion 98-156, the Ethics Commission opined, among other things, that a Retirement Board member was prohibited from participating in matters concerning members of the North Providence Federation of Teachers (“NPFT”) and RIFT because, at the time, the petitioner held leadership positions in both of those organizations.² At that time, recognition by the Ethics Commission of a business associate relationship among the leaders of an organization, and between the leaders of the organization and the organization itself, extended to all other members of the organization who had no leadership role. See, e.g., A.O. 98-44 (opining that a Commissioner of the Fire Safety Code Board of Appeal and Review must not only recuse from participation in appeals involving property owned by Local 799, but must also recuse from appeals involving property owned by any individual member of Local 799, given that the petitioner was a business associate of Local 799 by virtue of his leadership position of President of the organization).

The petitioners from Advisory Opinions 98-156 and 98-44 above were considered business associates not only of the organizations for which they served in leadership positions, and the other leaders with whom they served within those organizations, but also with the rank and file members of those organizations. As such, the petitioners were prohibited from participating in matters that would impact their respective organizations, fellow leaders, and the rank and file members of their respective organizations. The ability to direct and affect the financial objectives of an organization is the tie that binds the leaders of that organization as business associates and is a tie that extends to the relationship between those leaders and the organization itself. However, in more recent years, the Ethics Commission has recognized that rank and file members of an organization are situated differently than are the organization's leadership, without the same ability to direct and affect the financial objectives of the organization.

In Advisory Opinion 2013-14, the Ethics Commission noted that a Retirement Board member's "mere membership" in a labor union, as opposed to holding a leadership position, "would not necessarily create a business association." However, those members holding such leadership positions were required to recuse from a discussion of litigation that involved and would financially impact their organization as an entity. In Advisory Opinion 2019-3, the Ethics Commission opined that a member of the South Kingstown School Committee ("SKSC"), who was also employed by NEARI, was prohibited by the Code of Ethics from participating in SKSC matters relating to the negotiation and approval of school department contracts with NEARI local bargaining units, and also from participating in grievance hearings involving school district employees who were NEARI members when such members were represented by a NEARI employee or representative. Such recusal was required in these instances pursuant to Regulation 1.2.1, because NEARI employees or representatives were appearing to represent school district employees, present evidence, or make arguments before the SKSC. Inherent in this advisory opinion was a determination that the petitioner would not be required to recuse from matters involving NEARI members who were not represented by a NEARI employee or representative.

It was also in 2019 that the Ethics Commission issued a Decision and Order dismissing with prejudice an ethics complaint against a Rhode Island State Senator who worked as a municipal high school teacher and who served as an officer for NEARI. See In re: Valarie Lawson, ² The Ethics Commission also opined that the Retirement Board member was prohibited from participating in matters concerning the spouse or dependent child of a member of the NPFT and the RIFT, given the reasonable expectation that such participation would affect not only the financial status of the spouse or dependent child, but also the financial status of the member himself or herself.

Complaint No. 2019-7. The complaint alleged, in pertinent part, that the respondent had co-sponsored legislation which required that all contractual provisions contained in an otherwise expired collective bargaining agreement with certified schoolteachers and municipal employees would continue until such time as a successor agreement was reached between the parties, excluding contractual provisions that limited layoffs. The complaint further alleged that the respondent advocated for passage on the Senate floor and cast her vote in favor of passage.³ The investigation revealed that the financial impact of the legislation was not on NEARI itself, as an entity, but rather on the terms and conditions of employment for municipal employees and teachers, some of whom happened to be NEARI members. That there was no probable cause to believe that the respondent had used her public office to obtain financial gain to benefit NEARI itself, as an entity, contributed in large part to the complaint's dismissal.⁴

There is currently no actual pending matter before the Retirement Board for which its members have a specific inquiry. Nonetheless, the Ethics Commission recognizes the importance of addressing issues which can reasonably be expected to be faced by members of the Retirement Board going forward and will, therefore, provide general guidance only at this time. Accordingly, it is the opinion of the Ethics Commission that a Retirement Board member is prohibited by the Code of Ethics from participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings if he or she has reason to believe or expect that a direct monetary gain or a direct monetary loss will accrue, by virtue of his or her official activity, to himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, or his or her employer. Specifically, a Retirement Board member is prohibited from participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings which are likely to result in a financial impact upon himself or herself or upon any individual who serves in a leadership position within a private organization for which the Retirement Board member also serves in a leadership position, or upon the organization itself. Also, a Retirement Board member shall not use confidential information received through his or her public position to obtain financial gain, other than that provided by law, for himself or herself, any person within his or her family, his or her business associate, or his or her employer.

A Retirement Board member is further prohibited by the Code of Ethics from participating in disability adjudications and contested administrative hearings if any person within his or her family or household, his or her business associate, his or her employer, or anyone authorized to appear on behalf of any person within his or her family or household, his or her business associate, or his or her employer, appears to present evidence or arguments before the Retirement Board. A Retirement Board member is not required to recuse from participation in disability adjudications or contested administrative hearings if the applicant is a rank and file member of a private organization within which the Retirement Board member has a leadership position, provided that said rank and file member is not represented by an employee or agent of that organization. A Retirement Board member who is a state or municipal elected or appointed official is not required to recuse from participation in disability adjudications or contested administrative hearings just because the applicant elected or appointed the Retirement Board member, is a constituent of that Retirement Board member, or is a state or municipal employee, provided that participation is not otherwise prohibited by the Code of Ethics pursuant to a secondary relationship between the Retirement Board member and the applicant. Upon recusal by any Retirement Board member, he or she is required to complete a statement of conflict of interest consistent with section 36-14-6.

⁴ The Ethics Commission also found that there was no direct financial impact upon the respondent aside from that which impacted more than 11,500 public schoolteachers in Rhode Island and, therefore, fell under the class exception found at section 36-14-7(b). Nor was there evidence of any relationship between the passage of the legislation and the respondent's predetermined salary from NEARI. Therefore, there was also no probable cause to believe that the respondent had used her public office to obtain financial gain for herself.

Finally, the Ethics Commission has recognized and permitted a Rule of Necessity exception in matters where recusals inhibit governmental process, such as where the majority of public body members must recuse themselves and a resulting failure of a quorum renders the entity unable to act. Under the Rule of Necessity, the official or officials determined to have the least conflict may be permitted to participate so that an important governmental function can be accomplished. See, e.g., A.O. 2008-9 (opining that the Town of Smithfield Zoning Board of Review could utilize the Rule of Necessity to achieve a quorum of five members to hear and decide an appeal from a decision of the Planning Board, given that three of the seven Zoning Board members had conflicts of interest requiring their recusals). Public bodies may not, on their own, invoke the Rule of Necessity. Rather, public bodies are required to seek an advisory opinion from the Ethics Commission permitting the use of the Rule of Necessity each time conflicts of interest would inhibit their necessary governmental processes.

This Draft Opinion is strictly limited to the facts stated herein and relates only to the application of the Rhode Island Code of Ethics. Under the Code of Ethics, advisory opinions are based on the representations made by, or on behalf of, a public official or employee and are not adversarial or investigative proceedings. Finally, this Commission offers no opinion on the effect that any other statute, regulation, ordinance, constitutional provision, charter provision, or canon of professional ethics may have on this situation.

C.A. No. KC-2018-0677

DECISION

LANPHEAR, J. Before this Court is Plaintiff Kellie Wallace's (Ms. Wallace) appeal from the May 25, 2018 decision of the Defendant Employees' Retirement System of Rhode Island (ERSRI), which denied her application for accidental disability retirement benefits. Jurisdiction is pursuant to G.L. 1956 § 42-35-15. For the reasons set forth herein, this Court affirms the decision of ERSRI.

I

Facts and Travel

Introduction

Ms. Wallace was an employee of the State of Rhode Island at Zambarano Hospital, located in Burrillville, Rhode Island. Compl. ¶ 1. Ms. Wallace was employed as a janitor with the following duties: "[t]o do cleaning, custodial and simple maintenance work in a public building or state institution; and to do related work as required." ERSRI 0030. On January 11, 2017, Ms. Wallace applied for accidental disability retirement with ERSRI based on an injury that occurred on February 13, 2015. Compl. ¶ 4. Ms. Wallace submitted medical reports with her application to support her position that she was totally disabled as a result of an accident sustained in performance of her job. Id. ¶ 6. On May 25, 2018, ERSRI issued a decision denying Ms. Wallace's accidental disability retirement benefits. Id. ¶ 7. On June 21, 2018, Ms. Wallace filed this action appealing ERSRI's decision of May 25, 2018.

B

Incident and Application for Accidental Disability Retirement

On February 13, 2015, Ms. Wallace filed an injury report form to report an injury that occurred while she was working at the hospital. ERSRI 0022. Ms. Wallace indicated that she was picking up paper from the floor and banged her head on a fire extinguisher when she stood up. Id. She indicated that she was suffering from a bad headache and dizziness. Id.

On January 11, 2017, Ms. Wallace applied for an accidental disability retirement. Id. at 0018. Ms. Wallace's application was based on: "loss of memory, depression, anxiety, unable to be around large crowds or loud noises. Forgetfulness." Id. Ms. Wallace described the accident and stated she was "picking up paper on floor stood up banged head on fire ext." Id. Ms. Wallace claimed she was permanently disabled because of her forgetfulness, she is not able to handle many tasks at one time and has trouble with confusion and performance. Id.

C

Applicant's Physician's Statement

Ms. Wallace's physician, Dr. Albert J. Marano, MD, completed the Applicant's Physician's Statement for Accidental Disability and indicated that the disability is a result of the reported accident sustained in the performance of Ms. Wallace's job and not the result of age or length of service. He concluded Ms. Wallace is permanently and totally disabled from service in her current employment and from any employment. Id. at 00156. Dr. Marano further indicated that based on his examination of the Ms. Wallace, she has reached maximum medical improvement (MMI). Id.

Dr. Marano referred Ms. Wallace for a neuropsychological evaluation that was completed on August 13, 2015 by Thomas Guilmette, Ph.D. Id. at 00189. Overall, the evaluation concluded, among other things, that Ms. Wallace's two more recent head injuries were on the mild end of the concussion spectrum although she is vulnerable to longer periods of recovery and greater deficits from injuries given her severe head trauma in the early 1990s. Id. at 00193. Finally, it was the impression of the clinical neuropsychologist that Ms. Wallace's cognitive symptoms would improve over time. Id.

Dr. Marano assessed Ms. Wallace again on January 16, 2017 and concluded that she had persistent post-concussion syndrome. Further he stated, "the pre-existent severe TBI is the predisposition that led to the poorer outcome in the setting of this less severe injury. Severe anxiety and depression are part of her current problems . . . she has not improved further and we are at almost two years and therefore one can suggest she has reached maximum medical improvement." Id. at 00159-00160.

Medical Records in Support of Application

Ms. Wallace submitted medical records from Landmark Medical Center, Joseph V. Centofanti, M.D., and WellOne Primary Medical and Dental Care with Clifford Gordon, Ed. D. in support of her application for Accidental Disability Retirement Benefits.

i. Landmark Medical Center (2/13/2015)

Ms. Wallace went to the Landmark Medical Center Emergency Department on February 13, 2015, the date of the accident. Id. at 0084. Her chief complaints were that she hit her head on a fire extinguisher at work, that she was dizzy, that she had a history of head injury, and that she was experiencing pain. Id. She was discharged to home with head injury precautions, post-concussive syndrome precautions, and a suggestion to follow up with neurology for further management and care. Id. at 0089. The head CT performed found “the posterior fossa structures are unremarkable. There is evidence of chronic encephalomalacia involving the left frontal lobe due to old trauma or ischemic event. Impression: chronic changes as described no acute intracranial process.” Id. at 0090.

ii. Joseph V. Centofanti, M.D. (2/18/2015)

Ms. Wallace was seen by Dr. Joseph V. Centofanti on February 18, 2015. Id. at 0066-0098. Id. at 0066. Dr. Centofanti assessed Ms. Wallace for a minor head injury she suffered while at work, changed her medications and ordered a neuropsychological assessment. Ms. Wallace’s long-term EEG was abnormal and Dr. Centofanti recommended off-work status until a follow up four weeks later. Id.

Ms. Wallace returned to Dr. Centofanti on March 19, 2015. Id. at 0097. Dr. Centofanti instructed Ms. Wallace to undergo a formal neuropsychological assessment. Id. Ms. Wallace’s long-term EEG was abnormal, and Dr. Centofanti recommended that she remain off work until further information becomes available and she should return for a follow-up after the neuropsych test is completed. Id. at 0097-0098.

iii. WellOne Primary Medical and Dental Care Clifford Gordon, Ed.D.

Ms. Wallace was treated by Dr. Clifford Gordon from WellOne since 2015 for therapy. Id. at 00338. Ms. Wallace reported that Dr. Gordon was her therapist, and he would provide support and would encourage Ms. Wallace to go places like the flea market. Id. at 00339. Her initial visit took place on February 9, 2015, when Ms. Wallace was examined for depression and anxiety in the context of her 19-year-old son receiving a diagnosis of psychotic depression. Id. at 00130, 00342. At this time, she was diagnosed with “major depressive disorder moderate without psychosis and anxiety.” Id. at 00342.

Past Medical Records

On September 16, 2014, Ms. Wallace visited University Foot & Ankle Center with a chief complaint of bilateral heel pain that had been ongoing for five months. Id. at 00198. Ms. Wallace was treated at Asthma & Allergy Associates of Rhode Island from March 19, 2014 to April 15, 2014. Id. at 00199-00207. She was also treated at OPTX for eye issues from October 28, 2014 to July 22, 2015. Id. at 00302-00307.

Ms. Wallace was treated at Comprehensive Community Action Program (CCAP) various times for various issues like depression; updates to her medications and preventative exams; flu-like symptoms, a cough and cold symptoms; allergies and asthma; and arm pain. Id. at 00209-00251. On June 17, 2014, she was treated at CCAP for headaches after she stood up and banged her head on the corner of the metal cabinet. Id. at 00236-00239. On February 19, 2015, Ms. Wallace was treated at CCAP for depression. Id. at 00246-00251.

F

Independent Medical Examiners (IMEs)

Ms. Wallace was examined by three independent medical examiners: (1) Thomas F. Morgan, M.D. on July 11, 2017; (2) Naureen Attiullah, M.D. on July 17, 2017; and (3) David DiSanto, M.D. on July 26, 2017.

i. Thomas F. Morgan, M.D.

Dr. Thomas Morgan examined Ms. Wallace on July 11, 2017 and concluded that her disability is not a result of the reported accident sustained in the performance of her job and that she is not permanently and totally disabled from current and any employment. Id. at 00460. Dr. Morgan also opined that Ms. Wallace had reached MMI. Id. at 00461. Dr. Morgan referenced Ms. Wallace's work injury of February 13, 2015 as "minor and unassociated with brain concussion or post-concussion syndrome." Id. at 00467. It was Dr. Morgan's opinion that Ms. Wallace has "well established preexistent traumatic brain injury with findings of frontal lobe and temporal lobe damage that explains her chronic neurological behavioral state." Id. at 00468. Additionally, "she has well established psychiatric disease including major depressive disorder and anxiety that explains her current condition." Id. "These preexistent conditions were being actively treated and did not interfere with her ability to work or contribute to work disability." Id. Ultimately, it was Dr. Morgan's opinion that Ms. Wallace's "preexistent condition of post traumatic brain injury from the 1990's and her depression, anxiety are the major contributing cause to her current psychological complaints" and "[t]hese psychiatric conditions were not caused or aggravated by her work injury incident" because "[t]hese psychiatric conditions were preexistent and ongoing." Id. Finally, Dr. Morgan concluded that "these current psychological complaints would not be caused by her minor work injury incident . . . and would not limit her ability to return to work.”

Id.

On July 24, 2017, Dr. Morgan confirmed his previous determination and opinion that Ms. Wallace’s chronic preexistent anxiety was not work related and did not qualify for accidental disability. Id. at 00459.

On August 22, 2017, Dr. Morgan sent a correspondence indicating that he reviewed records from Comprehensive Community Action Program from Cranston Family Health Services, including mental and behavioral evaluations from January 2016 through August 2017. Id. at 00457. According to Dr. Morgan, the review of these records reveals a longstanding mood disorder related to Ms. Wallace’s prior traumatic brain injuries and social anxiety disorder. Id. These conditions were preexistent to her injury of February 13, 2015. Id. These medical records did not change Dr. Morgan’s opinion expressed in his original evaluation that her work injury incident did not cause or worsen her preexistent traumatic brain injury or post traumatic seizure disorder. Id.

ii. Naureen Attiullah, M.D.

Dr. Naureen Attiullah examined Ms. Wallace on July 17, 2017 and concluded that the disability was not a result of the reported accident sustained in the performance of her job and that she was not permanently and totally disabled from current and any employment. Id. at 00333. Dr. Attiullah also opined that Ms. Wallace had not reached MMI. Id. at 00334. Dr. Attiullah summarized that “there is ample evidence that [her anxiety and depression] existed prior to the accident.” Id. at 00344. Dr. Attiullah did not find Ms. Wallace disabled from her psychiatric condition and did not find that the anxiety and depression were caused by the accident. Id. Dr. Attiullah did not believe Ms. Wallace was disabled from her psychiatric issues and her cognition was found to be mostly normal upon objective neuropsychological exam on July 28, 2015. Id. at 00345. Dr. Attiullah concluded that Ms. Wallace had not reached MMI because she had not engaged in systematic desensitization nor had she exhausted medication trials. Id. Ultimately, Dr. Attiullah stated that “[i]t is much more likely that Ms. Wallace’s anxiety and depression stem from the past. In either case I do not feel that she is disabled from doing her job.” Id. at 00346.

iii. David DiSanto, M.D.

Dr. David DiSanto examined Ms. Wallace on July 26, 2017 and concluded that the disability was a result of the reported accident sustained in the performance of her job and that she was permanently and totally disabled from current and any employment. Id. at 00324. Dr. DiSanto also opined that based on his examination of Ms. Wallace, it was his opinion that she had reached MMI. Id. at 00325. Dr. DiSanto indicated that the diagnosis of Ms. Wallace would be “bitemporal seizure disorder associated with traumatic brain injury and postconcussion syndrome.” Id. at 00327. He further explained that the serious accident that happened thirty years ago contributed to her disability and the CAT scan findings revealed extensive brain injury. Id. He indicated that “falling backwards and causing traumatic frontal brain injury would be the precipitating factor and the secondary factor would be the injury sustained after hitting her head against the fire extinguisher, causing bilateral occipital neuralgias.” Id. at 00327-00328. Dr. DiSanto reviewed additional information in September of 2017, and his opinion remained the same. Id. at 00326.

G

Decision on Ms. Wallace’s Application

On October 6, 2017, ERSRI’s Disability Subcommittee (Subcommittee) considered Ms. Wallace’s application and recommended the denial of her application. Id. at 00474. The Subcommittee concluded that Ms. Wallace is not physically or mentally incapacitated from the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident occurring while in the performance of duty. Id. at 00476. The Subcommittee was unable to conclude that Ms. Wallace's current condition is a proximate result of the cited accident. Id. The Subcommittee was persuaded by the thorough and comprehensive opinions of Drs. Morgan and Attiullah, neither of whom could conclude that Ms. Wallace's current condition was a proximate result of the February 2015 incident. Id. at 00477. The Subcommittee also concluded that Dr. DiSanto did not address Ms. Wallace's pre-existing therapy and treatment or the June 2014 incident where she also hit her head. Id. Therefore, the Subcommittee did not find a causal relationship between Ms. Wallace's present condition and the February 2015 incident. Id.

On November 8, 2017, the Subcommittee's recommendation to deny Ms. Wallace's application was affirmed by the full Retirement Board. Id. at 00472. On December 5, 2017, Ms. Wallace sent a request to appeal the denial to the Retirement Board. Id. at 00486.

On December 11, 2017, Ms. Wallace's reconsideration hearing was scheduled for March 9, 2018 before the Subcommittee. Id. at 00488. At the March 9, 2018 meeting, Ms. Wallace's counsel contended the prior denial was based on the conclusion that although Ms. Wallace suffered an injury 30 years ago, Ms. Wallace had made a complete recovery from that incident. Id. at 00517. Ms. Wallace testified about the conditions she was experiencing that were the basis of the disability claim, including forgetfulness, nervousness around groups, tiredness, and severe headaches. Id. Ms. Wallace's counsel then stated that the disability was caused by the February 13, 2015 incident and she had made a full recovery from the incident that occurred 30 years ago. Id. at 00519.

On March 9, 2018, after reviewing the evidence, including the additional materials presented prior to Ms. Wallace's reconsideration hearing, and giving due consideration to Ms. Wallace's testimony and arguments presented, the Subcommittee continued to conclude that Ms. Wallace is not physically or mentally incapacitated from the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident while in the performance of duty. Id. at 00530. The Subcommittee remained unable to conclude that Ms. Wallace's current condition is the proximate result of the cited accident, in light of her history of a severe traumatic brain injury 30 years ago, and her treatment for psychiatric issues pre-dating the February 2015 incident. Id.

On May 11, 2018, the full Retirement Board affirmed and adopted the findings of fact and recommendation of the Disability Subcommittee to deny Ms. Wallace's application for an accidental disability pension. Id. at 00525. By certified letter dated May 25, 2018, Ms. Wallace was notified of the Retirement Board's final decision and her right to seek judicial review. ERSRI 00525. Ms. Wallace commenced this action on June 21, 2018. See Compl.

Standard of Review

Pursuant to § 42-35-15 of the Rhode Island Administrative Procedures Act (APA), "[a]ny person, . . . who has exhausted all administrative remedies available to him or her within [an] agency, and who is aggrieved by a final order in a contested case is entitled to judicial review" by this Court. Section 42-35-15. This Court "may affirm the decision of the agency or remand the case for further proceedings," and may reverse or modify an agency's decision if:

"[S]ubstantial rights of the appellant have been prejudiced because the administrative findings, inferences, conclusions, or decisions are:

"(1) In violation of constitutional or statutory provisions;

"(2) In excess of the statutory authority of the agency;

"(3) Made upon unlawful procedure;

“(4) Affected by other error or law;
“(5) Clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record; or “(6) Arbitrary or capricious or characterized by abuse of discretion or clearly unwarranted exercise of discretion.” Section 42-35-15(g).

This Court must not “substitute its judgment for that of the agency as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact,” and will defer to an agency’s factual determinations as long as they are supported by legally competent evidence on the record. Section 42-35-15(g); Town of Burrillville v. Rhode Island State Labor Relations Board, 921 A.2d 113, 118 (R.I. 2007). Legally competent evidence is defined as “such relevant evidence that a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion, and means an amount more than a scintilla but less than a preponderance.” Rhode Island Temps, Inc. v. Department of Labor and Training, Board of Review, 749 A.2d 1121, 1125 (R.I. 2000) (quoting Center for Behavioral Health, Rhode Island, Inc. v. Barros, 710 A.2d 680, 684 (R.I. 1998)). “[I]f ‘competent evidence exists in the record, the Superior Court is required to uphold the agency’s conclusions.’” Auto Body Association of Rhode Island v. State Department of Business Regulation, 996 A.2d 91, 95 (R.I. 2010) (quoting Rhode Island Public Telecommunications Authority v. Rhode Island State Labor Relations Board, 650 A.2d 479, 485 (R.I. 1994)).

In contrast to an agency’s findings of fact, an agency’s determinations of law, including issues of statutory interpretation, “are not binding on the reviewing court.” Pawtucket Transfer Operations, LLC v. City of Pawtucket, 944 A.2d 855, 859 (R.I. 2008). Instead, this Court reviews the record de novo in order “to determine what the law is and its applicability to the facts.” Id.

III

Analysis

On appeal, Ms. Wallace requests that this Court reverse the decision of the ERSRI and grant her disability pension pursuant to G.L. 1956 § 36-10-14 on the basis that the Retirement Board ignored Ms. Wallace's physician's statement, and his opinion should be given greater weight and consideration than the Retirement Board's physician. Pl.'s Mem. at 3. Furthermore, Ms. Wallace asserts that the Retirement Board based its decision on her accident that occurred thirty years ago. Id. The ERSRI asserts that Ms. Wallace failed to meet the standard set forth in § 36-10-14, and the Retirement Board expressly found that Ms. Wallace was not physically or mentally incapacitated from the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident while in the performance of duty, which was supported by competent evidence in the record. Def.'s Mem. at 7. Therefore, for these reasons, the ERSRI requests this Court deny and dismiss Ms. Wallace's complaint and affirm the decision of the ERSRI. Id. at 14.

An employee of the State of Rhode Island who has yet to attain the age of sixty-five may apply for and receive an accidental disability pension pursuant to § 36-10-14. The criteria that an applicant must meet to qualify for an Accidental Disability Pension is set forth in § 36-10-14. Pursuant to § 36-10-14:

“(a) Medical examination of an active member for accidental disability and investigation of all statements and certificates by him or her or in his or her behalf in connection therewith shall be made upon the application of the head of the department in which the member is employed or upon application of the member, or of a person acting in his or her behalf, stating that the member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident while in the performance of duty, and certify the definite time, place, and conditions of the duty performed by the member resulting in the alleged disability, and that the alleged disability is not the result of willful negligence or misconduct on the part of the member, and is not the result of age or length of service, and that the member should, therefore, be retired.

“(b) The application shall be made within five (5) years of the alleged accident from which the injury has resulted in the members present disability and shall be accompanied by an accident report and a physicians report certifying to the disability; provided that if the member was able to return to his or her employment and subsequently reinjures or aggravates the same injury, the application shall be made within the later of five (5) years of the alleged accident or three (3) years of the reinjury or aggravation. The application may also state the member is permanently and totally disabled from any employment.

“(c) If a medical examination conducted by three (3) physicians engaged by the retirement board and such investigation as the retirement board may desire to make shall show that the member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident, while in the performance of duty, and that the disability is not the result of willful negligence or misconduct on the part of the member, and is not the result of age or length of service, and that the member has not attained the age of sixty-five (65), and that the member should be retired, the physicians who conducted the examination shall so certify to the retirement board stating the time, place, and conditions of service performed by the member resulting in the disability and the retirement board may grant the member an accidental disability benefit.

“(d) The retirement board shall establish uniform eligibility requirements, standards, and criteria for accidental disability which shall apply to all members who make application for accidental disability benefits.” Section 36-10-14.

Section 36-10-14(a) requires the employee to state that he or she is “physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident while in the performance of duty, and certify the definite time, place, and conditions of the duty performed by the [employee] resulting in the alleged disability. Section 36-10-14(a). Additionally, § 36-10-14(b) requires that the application for accidental disability benefits “be accompanied by an accident report and a physicians report certifying to the disability.” Section 36-10-14(b). Finally, § 36-10-14(c) requires ERSRI to engage three independent physicians to determine whether the employee is “physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident, while in the performance of duty.” Section 36-10-14(c).

The Rhode Island Supreme Court has interpreted the meaning of a phrase similar to § 36-10-14 regarding the natural and proximate result of an accident. The Supreme Court has determined that proximate cause “requires a factual finding that the ‘harm would not have occurred but for the [accident] and that the harm [was a] natural and probable consequence of the [accident].’” Pierce v. Providence Retirement Board, 15 A.3d 957, 964 (R.I. 2011) (quoting DiPetrillo v. Dow Chemical Co., 729 A.2d 677, 692 (R.I. 1999)).

The accidental disability statute makes clear that an applicant must include in their application for accidental disability their own statement regarding their disability as well as a statement by their physician, and the applicant must be evaluated by three independent physicians. Section 36-10-14. The language of the statute does not preclude the Retirement Board from placing greater weight on the IME reports, but the Board must consider all of the evidence before it on the record in making its determination of eligibility. Borrelli v. Retirement Board of Employees’ Retirement System of Rhode Island (ERSRI), No. PC-2016-2817, 2018 WL 3933931, at *12 (R.I. Super. Aug. 09, 2018) (citing Sanderson v. Continental Casualty Corp., 279 F. Supp. 2d 466, 480 (D. Del. 2003) (holding that the issue on appeal was not whether the ERISA plan “should have given the treating physician’s opinions ‘substantial weight,’ but instead, why Continental decided to give multiple other forms of evidence no consideration at all, or conflicting consideration.”)). Furthermore, there is no requirement referenced in either the statutory framework or the regulations promulgated by ERSRI that requires the Court to give controlling weight to the applicant’s treating physician opinion over a consulting physician’s opinion, unlike applications for federal Social Security Disability Income where deference is given to the treating physician's opinion. Acciardo v. Employees' Retirement System of Rhode Island (ERSRI), No. PC-10-2822, 2012 WL 3757796 (R.I. Super. Aug. 24, 2012) (Trial Order).

Here, the Retirement Board found that Ms. Wallace is not physically or mentally incapacitated from the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident while in the performance of duty as required by § 36-10-14. ERSRI 00530. In other words, the Subcommittee and full Retirement Board found that Ms. Wallace's current condition is not the proximate result of the cited accident, in light of her history of suffering from a severe traumatic brain injury thirty years ago and her treatment for psychiatric issues pre-dating the February 2015 incident. Id. at 00530.

The Retirement Board and Disability Subcommittee's denial of benefits was based on Ms. Wallace's evaluation by Dr. David DiSanto, Dr. Thomas Morgan, and Dr. Naureen Attiullah, as well as the statement by Ms. Wallace's physician, Dr. Albert Marano; the Board did consider all of the evidence before them. Id. at 00527-00528. The Subcommittee and the Retirement Board were persuaded by Dr. Morgan and Dr. Attiullah's opinions that Ms. Wallace is not permanently and totally disabled from current and any employment. Id. at 00530. These opinions were based on Ms. Wallace's normal neurological exam of February 13, 2015 and Ms. Wallace's mood and social anxiety disorder, which predated the incident that is the basis for Ms. Wallace's application. Id. Ms. Wallace was also treated by Dr. Clifford Gordon on February 9, 2015 to address stress and depression, which was prior to the cited accident. Id.

The Board also specifically noted that it placed less weight on the examination and report by Dr. David DiSanto because the Subcommittee determined that Dr. DiSanto's finding that Ms. Wallace's current condition is causally related to the February 2015 incident was not justified, in light of his acknowledgement that her serious head trauma 30 years earlier also contributed to her condition. Id. The Subcommittee also took issue with the fact that Dr. DiSanto did not address Ms. Wallace's pre-existing therapy and treatment. Id.

Contrary to Ms. Wallace's assertion that the Retirement Board's decision is contrary to the law and facts because the Board based its decision on the accident that occurred 30 years ago rather than the most current accident, the Board and the doctors did take all of Ms. Wallace's medical history into account to come to their decision. Importantly, the Board's decision was based on the determination that Ms. Wallace's condition, which is the basis of her application for retirement benefits, pre-existed the 2015 accident.

Ms. Wallace also asserts that the Board ignored Dr. Marano's statement that Ms. Wallace was permanently and totally disabled as a result of the 2015 accident and further asserts that Dr. Marano's opinion should be given greater weight than independent medical examiners because of his status as Ms. Wallace's treating physician. However, § 36-10-14(c) states that the retirement board may grant accidental disability benefits if a medical examination conducted by three physicians engaged by the retirement board determine that the member is physically or mentally incapacitated for the performance of service as a natural and proximate result of an accident. Section 36-10-14(c). In other words, the statute requires the Retirement Board to consider these three medical examinations and does not require the board to consider the opinion of the applicant's physician. As the ERSRI points out, the policy for having independent medical examinations is that these examinations have greater impartiality and fairness compared to an applicant's physician. Therefore, the Retirement Board properly considered the independent medical examinations, placing less reliance upon the opinion of Ms. Wallace's physician regarding her disability status.

For these reasons, the Court is satisfied that the Retirement Board's factual determinations are supported by legally competent evidence on the record and the Court will defer to the Board's factual determinations. Because the Court should not substitute its judgment for that of the agency as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact and because this Court finds that the Retirement Board's decision was not clearly erroneous in view of the evidence on the whole record, the Retirement Board's decision is affirmed.

IV

Conclusion

This Court holds that the Retirement Board's decision is supported by legally competent evidence on the record and, therefore, the Retirement Board's decision is affirmed, and Ms. Wallace's application is denied.

OPINION

Justice Goldberg, for the Court. This case came before the Supreme Court on March 11, 2021, on appeal by the defendant, Fred L. Randall, who seeks review of a Superior Court judgment that revoked his pension benefits and denied his request for return of his retirement contributions paid into the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island (the ERSRI), and ordered that retirement payments made to his spouse, Diane Randall, must be applied towards his restitution obligations. The defendant contends on appeal to this Court that the trial justice erred in (1) conditioning Mrs. Randall's receipt of benefits on her assignment of those payments to the defendant's restitution judgment and (2) refusing to apply the defendant's pension contributions towards his restitution obligations. For the reasons stated in this opinion, we affirm in part and vacate in part the judgment of the Superior Court.

Facts and Travel

The defendant was an employee of the State of Rhode Island since 1976 and contributed to the ERSRI for approximately thirty-five years. He held various positions, including as a fiscal clerk at the Department of Computer Sciences at the University of Rhode Island (URI); a fiscal clerk in the Department of Chemistry at URI; and a fiscal clerk and senior teller in the Bursar's Office at the Providence Extension Campus of URI. In March 2011, defendant retired from state service and began receiving retirement benefits of approximately $4,300 per month; the payments were reduced to approximately $2,500 per month in November 2014, when defendant became eligible for Social Security benefits. The defendant continued to receive retirement benefits until March 2015 and received a total of $196,007.54 in pension payments during this period.

On July 13, 2012, defendant was charged by way of criminal information with felony embezzlement, in violation of G.L. 1956 §§ 11-41-3 and 11-41-5, and access to a computer for fraudulent purposes, in violation of G.L. 1956 §§ 11-52-2 and 11-52-5. The state alleged that between 2005 and 2011, during the course of his employment, defendant embezzled a significant amount of money from URI. On June 10, 2014, defendant entered a plea of nolo contendere to the embezzlement charge, and the state dismissed the count charging computer fraud. The defendant was sentenced to twenty years at the Adult Correctional Institutions, with eighteen months to serve, twelve months of home confinement, and the balance suspended, with probation. The defendant was also ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $200,000.

On January 15, 2015, the plaintiff, the Retirement Board of the Employees' Retirement System of the State of Rhode Island (the Retirement Board), initiated this action pursuant to the Public Employee Pension Revocation and Reduction Act, G.L. 1956 chapter 10.1 of title 36 (PEPRRA), seeking a revocation of defendant's pension. The Retirement Board requested a statutory pension revocation and a declaratory judgment that defendant failed to satisfy the condition precedent of rendering honorable service in his public employment and, therefore, that he was not entitled to retirement payments from the ERSRI, or to a return of retirement contributions.

The trial justice conducted a bench trial on the Retirement Board's revocation and declaratory-judgment claims; defendant and Mrs. Randall testified. Their testimony revealed that they have been married since 1975 and at all relevant times resided together at a home in Warwick, Rhode Island. The defendant testified that, from around 2005 until 2011, he embezzled student tuition payments from URI and used the money to feed his gambling addiction at Foxwoods Resort

Casino and Mohegan Sun Casino. He testified that he never made any of the converted funds available to Mrs. Randall and that he never disclosed to his wife that he was stealing money to gamble, but rather that he continuously lied to cover up his activities. Specifically, defendant testified, when the casinos would send him free gifts, he would tell Mrs. Randall that a coworker named Barbara “played big and would use [his] card, so that [is] how [he] got points on [his rewards] card.”¹ The defendant also testified that when he was at the casinos without her, he lied to his wife about his whereabouts and told her that he was playing bridge.

During the relevant period, defendant and Mrs. Randall frequented the casinos together approximately once per week. However, Mrs. Randall testified that she would normally shop and play the slot machines, spending between $40 and $60 a night on gambling. Although she and defendant frequently separated while at the casinos, she testified, to her knowledge, defendant was gambling hundreds of dollars, not thousands. Mrs. Randall testified that she did not know that defendant was embezzling funds from URI, nor was there any indication that would have led her to believe he was engaging in inappropriate conduct. Although ¹ The testimony revealed that both defendant and Mrs. Randall had rewards cards from Foxwoods, which allowed them to earn points each time they gambled. The defendant testified that he would strategically use his wife’s card if he was “just playing a couple of dollars” so as to avoid lowering his card’s rating, which was based on how much was spent. Although Mrs. Randall’s rewards card allegedly had sums of over $20,000 on it, defendant testified that at least 90 percent of that money was gambled by him, and that any gambling done by his wife was funded by personal money and not the embezzled funds.

Mrs. Randall had access to the family checking account, she testified, she did not know how much was in that account, defendant was responsible for paying the bills, and she was unsure of defendant's salary. Mrs. Randall admitted that she "would get a little nervous" about the money expended on gambling, but she added that she "never really questioned him[.]" Rather, she maintained that she only became aware of defendant's thievery and lies when the police came calling. The defendant never admitted to his wife that he was embezzling money from URI.

In May 2014 Mrs. Randall inherited approximately $600,000 from her father's estate. Approximately $200,000 was spent on home improvements, a new automobile, and debt repayment, including credit-card balances, a home equity loan, and outstanding bills. Mrs. Randall also used her inheritance to fund a retirement account, a money market account, and an account for her grandson. Mrs. Randall testified that she works part-time at a day-care center, earning approximately $6,500 per year. The monthly home expenses, such as taxes, utilities, sewer fees, phone, gas, groceries, water, and car, homeowners, and dental insurance are approximately $1,680 per month.²

After the testimony concluded, the state indicated its intention to offer additional documentary evidence, and both parties rested. Posttrial memoranda were submitted, and the trial justice issued a written decision. The trial justice determined that a complete revocation of defendant's pension was appropriate pursuant to PEPRRA,³ but that Mrs. Randall was an innocent spouse and was entitled to "some pension payments[.]" However, the trial justice also found that "the present financial condition of [defendant] limits the likelihood that [URI] will ever be made whole[.]" and, therefore, he directed that URI "be timely compensated as a condition of payments to" Mrs. Randall. Accordingly, Mrs. Randall was awarded "ongoing pension payments, commencing on January 1, 2017, in the amount of $1,667 per month, on the condition that all of these payments be forwarded promptly, or assigned in advance," toward her husband's restitution debt. The trial justice ordered that upon full payment of the defendant's restitution debt, Mrs. Randall's pension payments would be "reduced to $500 per month and paid directly to her."

The trial justice also denied defendant's motion for return of contributions in an order issued on April 11, 2018, finding that PEPRRA "expressly forbids the return of contributions to the retiree if restitution is still due" and that the court had "not been asked to transfer the funds to satisfy restitution." Standard of Review

“This Court reviews questions of statutory interpretation de novo.” In re Estate of Chelo, 209 A.3d 1181, 1184 (R.I. 2019). It is well settled that “[i]n matters of statutory interpretation our ultimate goal is to give effect to the purpose of the act as intended by the Legislature.” Alessi v. Bowen Court Condominium, 44 A.3d 736, 740 (R.I. 2012) (quoting Webster v. Perrotta, 774 A.2d 68, 75 (R.I. 2001)). If “the language of a statute is clear and unambiguous, this Court must interpret the statute literally and must give the words of the statute their plain and ordinary meanings.” Id. (quoting Waterman v. Caprio, 983 A.2d 841, 844 (R.I. 2009)).

⁴ On May 23, 2019, this Court remanded this case to the Superior Court after discovering that the electronic filing system contained two judgments: the first signed and dated by the trial justice on May 2, 2018, and the second signed and dated by the trial justice on May 24, 2018. The May 24, 2018 judgment was captioned as a “Corrected Judgment[,]” and noted that the earlier judgment “was signed, but oddly not recorded into the [c]ourt’s computer filing and docketing system.” The remand order directed the Superior Court to develop “a record containing findings as to the travel of this case, including when and how the first judgment was filed on the electronic docket.” In accordance with the remand order, the trial justice held an evidentiary hearing on September 18, 2019, during which the Superior Court administrative manager testified regarding how the docket came to reflect two judgments. After reviewing the evidentiary record developed and the findings of fact made by the trial justice, we are satisfied that the instant appeal is timely.

⁵ The parties jointly petitioned this Court for a stay of enforcement of the judgment, maintaining that “issuing payments prior to the resolution of the issues on appeal may have tax implications to [d]efendant’s spouse, and that there may be an impact on eligibility for health insurance, as well as administrative complexities associate[d] with the Retirement System issuing the payments.” This Court granted the joint motion to stay enforcement of the judgment pending resolution of the issues on appeal on February 8, 2019.

Mrs. Randall’s Obligation to Forward Pension Payments Towards Defendant’s Restitution Debt

The defendant first contends that the trial justice’s decision to condition Mrs. Randall’s award of pension payments upon her forwarding those payments to satisfy her husband’s restitution obligations was erroneous and prohibited by statute and this Court’s jurisprudence. Specifically, defendant argues, because the trial justice found Mrs. Randall to be an innocent spouse, PEPRRA does not envision that an innocent spouse’s pension be applied to satisfy restitution.

The Retirement Board maintains that the trial justice did not err in conditioning the payment of pension benefits to Mrs. Randall upon the assignment of those payments to URI because “PEPRRA clearly establishes the power of the Superior Court to use its discretion to create a remedy as justice may require.” Accordingly, the Retirement Board argues that the trial justice’s decision did not directly order that defendant’s pension payments be made to URI, but rather “conditioned the spousal payment to Mrs. Randall on her payment to URI,” which, according to the Retirement Board, accords with the language and intent of PEPRRA. We disagree.

As we have previously noted,

“[t]he General Assembly enacted PEPRRA in 1992 to provide the Retirement Board with a statutory mechanism to initiate a civil action to revoke or reduce a public official/employee’s retirement benefits whenever such person * * * ‘is convicted of or pleads guilty or nolo contendere to any crime related to his or her public office or public employment.’” Retirement Board of Employees’ Retirement System of Rhode Island v. DiPrete, 845 A.2d 270, 279-80 (R.I. 2004) (quoting § 36-10.1-3(b), as enacted by P.L. 1992, ch. 306, art. 1, § 8).

However, PEPRRA also sets forth the primary purpose of a retirement pension, which “is ‘to provide for the family in the future.’” Id. at 291 (quoting Thompson v. Thompson, 642 A.2d 1160, 1164 (R.I. 1994)). Accordingly, § 36-10.1-3(d) provides that:

“If the [S]uperior [C]ourt determines that the retirement or other benefits or payments of a public official or public employee should be revoked or reduced under this chapter, it may, in its discretion and after taking into consideration the financial needs and resources of any innocent spouse or domestic partner, dependents and/or designated beneficiaries of the public official or public employee, order that some or all of the revoked or reduced benefits or payments be paid to any innocent spouse or domestic partner, dependent or beneficiary as justice may require.”

This provision of PEPRRA—based on principles relative to the equitable distribution of marital property—recognizes that “an innocent spouse has a cognizable property interest in a vested pension,” such that the Superior Court may, in its discretion, award “some or all of the total benefits to an innocent spouse.” DiPrete, 845 A.2d at 292.

However, under the plain language of § 36-10.1-3(d), revoked or reduced pension benefits or payments can only be paid to an innocent spouse, domestic partner, dependent, or beneficiary. See Retirement Board of Employees’ Retirement System of Rhode Island v. Azar, 721 A.2d 872, 877 (R.I. 1998) (“Although PEPRRA grants the trial justice substantial discretion to determine whether to revoke or reduce a public employee/official’s public pension after he or she has been convicted of a crime related to public employment, it authorizes payment of the revoked or reduced pension funds only to a pensioner’s innocent spouse, dependents, and/or designated beneficiaries.”). Indeed, we have recognized that “[b]y specifying only three types of payees who may receive a public employee/official’s revoked or reduced pension benefits, * * * the General Assembly manifested its intent to exclude other possible payees from receiving” that person’s pension benefits. Id.

The Retirement Board’s argument that the trial justice’s decision was correct because the pension payments are being made to Mrs. Randall, who must then forward them to URI—rather than the pension payments being forwarded directly to URI—presents a distinction without a difference.⁶ “[I]n deciding whether the trial justice acted within his or her discretion in fashioning an appropriate PEPRRA order[.]” “we look to the identity of the final payee of the benefits[.]” Azar, 721 A.2d at 878. Here, the final payee of defendant’s pension payments would be URI, which does not qualify as an innocent spouse, dependent, or beneficiary as required by the plain language of PEPRRA.

The Retirement Board also makes much of the trial justice’s observations that Mrs. Randall received “some benefit from the illicit scheme, as minor as it may or may not be[.]” However, the trial justice’s ultimate finding was that Mrs. Randall is an innocent spouse, and the Retirement Board has not appealed from that factual determination. There are no degrees of innocence under PEPRRA: a spouse is either innocent or not. Nor is PEPRRA intended to be punitive in its application; rather, it is a remedial enactment intended to be equitable in nature. “If justice is to be done, no court can overlook an innocent spouse’s entitlement to retirement benefits based on his or her familial contributions and the economic partnership theory of marriage, which is firmly established in this state.” DiPrete, 845 A.2d at 290. PEPRRA cannot be used to punish Mrs. Randall, the innocent spouse, for the misdeeds of her husband; she cannot be forced to forward the payments that she is awarded to the victim of her husband’s crime.

⁶ The tax implications for Mrs. Randall and the impact on her eligibility for health insurance were overlooked by the trial justice.

While the trial justice seemingly crafted a Solomonic remedy to address the tension between the award of pension benefits to an innocent spouse while the restitution owed to the victim of her husband's crime remains outstanding, the remedy quite plainly violates PEPRRA. Accordingly, we vacate that portion of the judgment ordering Mrs. Randall to forward any payments to URI.

Return of Contributions

The defendant also argues that the trial justice erred in failing to apply his pension contributions to his restitution obligations, and argues that "his pension contributions of $73,569.84 should be transferred to pay down his restitution obligations." Specifically, defendant contends that the trial justice improperly concluded that the court had "not been asked to transfer the funds to satisfy restitution."

On April 11, 2018, the trial justice entered an order denying defendant's motion for return of his pension contributions.⁷ The trial justice concluded that defendant was not entitled to return of his pension contributions because restitution was still due and owing, and that the court had not been asked to direct the contributions towards defendant's restitution obligations.

In accordance with § 36-10.1-4(a), "[a]ny * * * public employee whose retirement or other benefits or payments are revoked * * * shall be entitled to a return of his or her contribution paid into the relevant pension fund(s), without interest.” However, no return of contributions shall be made while the employee has any unsatisfied judgments or orders “for the payment of restitution for losses incurred by any person as a result of the subject crime related to the * * * public employment.” Section 36-10.1-4(c). If there is outstanding restitution due, the Superior Court “may order that any funds otherwise due to the * * * public employee as a return of contribution * * * be paid in satisfaction of the judgment or order.” Id.

The provisions of § 36-10.1-4 involving the return of contributions after benefits are revoked and prohibiting return if restitution is due and owing are mandatory. See Begg v. Alexander-Scott, 242 A.3d 23, 29 (R.I. 2020) (“use of the word ‘shall’ contemplates something mandatory or the imposition of a duty”) (quoting In re Estate of Chelo, 209 A.3d at 1184)). However, § 36-10.1-4(c) provides that the Superior Court “may order” that any return of contributions be paid to satisfy outstanding restitution. This Court has recognized the “principle of statutory construction that the use of the term ‘may’ denotes a permissive, rather than an imperative, condition.” Downey v. Carcieri, 996 A.2d 1144, 1151 (R.I. 2010).

Here, the trial justice was required to deny a return of contributions to the defendant, as restitution debt was still outstanding. Although it was within the trial justice's discretion to order that any return of contributions be paid to satisfy the defendant's outstanding restitution debt, he was not required to do so. The trial justice concluded that the defendant's return of contributions would not be applied to satisfy restitution because "[t]he [c]ourt has not been asked to transfer the funds to satisfy restitution." We discern nothing in the statutory language requiring a public employee to request that his or her return contributions be applied towards the satisfaction of outstanding restitution. Rather, § 36-10.1-4(c) clearly vests the Superior Court with discretion to determine whether "funds otherwise due to the * * * public employee as a return of contribution * * * be paid in satisfaction of the" outstanding restitution. As such, we are of the opinion that the trial justice erred in declining to apply the defendant's pension contributions to his restitution obligations merely because the defendant failed to make that specific request. Accordingly, the matter is remanded to the Superior Court with directions to consider whether the defendant's return of contributions should be applied towards his outstanding restitution, in accordance with § 36-10.1-4(c).

Conclusion

For the reasons set forth in this opinion, we hold as follows:

- (1) We affirm that portion of the judgment that revokes, in full and on a permanent basis, the defendant's pension benefits.

- (2) We affirm that portion of the judgment that declares that Mrs. Randall is an innocent spouse and is awarded pension payments.
- (3) We vacate that portion of the judgment that directs Mrs. Randall to pay her payments as an innocent spouse towards the defendant's restitution obligations, and remand this case for a recalculation of Mrs. Randall's benefits based on our decision.
- (4) We vacate that portion of the judgment that declined to apply the defendant's pension contributions to his restitution obligations merely because a specific request was not made, and we remand this case with directions for the Superior Court to consider whether the defendant's return of contributions should be applied towards his outstanding restitution.⁸

The record shall be remanded to the Superior Court with directions to enter a new judgment consistent with this opinion.

⁸ Because we are remanding with respect to the recalculation of benefits Mrs. Randall is entitled to receive, any return of contribution ordered to be paid in satisfaction of the defendant's outstanding restitution—should the trial justice so direct—must be in an amount inversely proportionate to the amount awarded to Mrs. Randall. See Retirement Board of Employees' Retirement System of Rhode Island v. DiPrete, 845 A.2d 270, 297 (R.I. 2004).

Subject: Post Retirement Employment Reports

Enclosed are the listings of reported retirees working under the various post-retirement employment statutes.

The Governor issued Executive Order (EO) #20-110 (Extended by 21-08 and 21-16) on December 30, 2020, with the purpose of increasing teaching and administrative staff capacity of the local school districts and other local educational agencies throughout the State of Rhode Island. The intent of the order is to remove any disincentive, for a limited period and for limited retired personnel, for retirees to return to work. The EO applies to the 20-21 school year, ending June 25, 2021. This order was in effect until January 28, 2021 and was extended to February 25, 2021 by EO 21-08; to March 24, 2021 by EO 21-16; to April 21, 2021 by EO 21-28 and to May 20, 2021 by EO 21-37.

For the K-12 schools, registered nurses and municipalities, the column Number of Days lists the up-to-date totals of working days provided by the agency(ies) to ERSRI. For the state colleges/universities the column Earnings (gross) lists the up-to-date dollar earnings.

Non-substitute teacher positions must be certified by the school as posted but unable to be filled with a non-retiree. Depending on the position being filled, a retired employee who returned to work as a substitute teacher is indicated by a Title/Function column as PRSB.

If a retired employee is returning to work as an administrator, guidance counselor, or other certified position in a school department, this is considered a vacancy position and labeled in the Title/Function column as PRAM. Certification letters (good faith letter) need to be provided by the agency and forwarded to ERSRI consistent with RIGL §16-16-24.

Municipal retirees returning to work in a school system are indicated in the Title/Function column as PRMS. Municipal retirees returning to work for a participating city/town are indicated as PRME.

Subject: Post Retirement Employment Reports

Enclosed are the listings of reported retirees working under the various post-retirement employment statutes.

The Governor issued Executive Order (EO) #20-110 (Extended by 21-08 and 21-16) on December 30, 2020, with the purpose of increasing teaching and administrative staff capacity of the local school districts and other local educational agencies throughout the State of Rhode Island. The intent of the order is to remove any disincentive, for a limited period and for limited retired personnel, for retirees to return to work. The EO applies to the 20-21 school year, ending June 25, 2021. This order was in effect until January 28, 2021 and was extended to February 25, 2021 by EO 21-08; to March 24, 2021 by EO 21-16; to April 21, 2021 by EO 21-28 and to May 20, 2021 by EO 21-37.

For the K-12 schools, registered nurses and municipalities, the column Number of Days lists the up-to-date totals of working days provided by the agency(ies) to ERSRI. For the state colleges/universities the column Earnings (gross) lists the up-to-date dollar earnings.

Non-substitute teacher positions must be certified by the school as posted but unable to be filled with a non-retiree. Depending on the position being filled, a retired employee who returned to work as a substitute teacher is indicated by a Title/Function column as PRSB.

If a retired employee is returning to work as an administrator, guidance counselor, or other certified position in a school department, this is considered a vacancy position and labeled in the Title/Function column as PRAM. Certification letters (good faith letter) need to be provided by the agency and forwarded to ERSRI consistent with RIGL §16-16-24.

Municipal retirees returning to work in a school system are indicated in the Title/Function column as PRMS. Municipal retirees returning to work for a participating city/town are indicated as PRME.

Memorandum

To: Frank Karpinski, Executive Director, Employees' Retirement System of RI

From: Jacqueline G. Kelley, Associate Director (Dept. of Administration on loan to the Dept. Of Health)

Re: Executive Order 20-37 and 20-54

Cc: Gayle Mambro-Martin, Cindy Flores

Date: April 28, 2021

The initial Executive Order regarding retirees continues to be extended by the Governor's Office. Below is the list of retirees who fall under this Executive Order and should not have impacts upon their respective pensions:

Susan Darby
Sandra Delack
Normand Laliberte
Bernadette McDowell
Deborah Vannoy

The skills, training, and knowledge of the retirees being re-employed by the RI Dept. of Health have played a vital role in the COVID19 response. Supplemental staffing of nurses with knowledge of infectious diseases, conversant with the handling of pandemics, and availability has been and remains crucial to the appropriate addressing of this pandemic

Thank you and your staff for your assistance with this process and your cooperation. If there is any additional information that I can provide, please advise. Thank you.

² Ms. Sylvia Maxfield was muted during the roll call vote. Her inaudibility did not affect quorum. Mr. Daniel McConaghy joined the meeting at 9:05am after the voting item was announced and abstained from the vote. His temporary absence and abstention did not affect quorum.

⁵Tiffany Spudich, Capital Cities, expanded upon the changes being proposed. Ms. Spudich described the proposed new glide paths within the CollegeBound 529 and CollegeBound Saver Age-Based Portfolios, which would raise equity exposure to be closer to the Morningstar Industry Average, increasing the potential return of the Portfolios while maintaining a relatively more conservative expected risk profile. Ms. Spudich also described several proposed Portfolio construction changes within the CollegeBound 529 Age-Based and Target Risk Portfolios. These changes would further diversify the glide path, as well as eliminate size and style biases currently present within the Portfolios. Ms. Spudich also highlighted proposed changes to the CollegeBound Saver Age-Based glidepath that would simplify the lineup. Ms. Spudich noted that these changes would reduce investment management fees for account owners at multiple points throughout the glide paths. Altogether, these changes are expected to better align the investment menus with each plan's distribution strategy.

The Board asked questions.

On a motion by Ms. Sylvia Maxfield and seconded by Mr. Daniel McConaghy, it was unanimously VOTED: to adopt the following recommended program enhancements: (A) with regard to the CollegeBound 529 Program, (1) increase the equity exposure within the Age-Based Portfolios' glide path, (2) adjust and further diversify the Age-Based Portfolios' manager construction by adding the following Funds to the Portfolios' construction: Invesco S&P 500 Pure Value ETF, Invesco PureBeta MSCI USA ETF, Invesco Discovery Mid Cap Growth Fund, Invesco Main Street Small Cap Fund, Invesco International Select Equity Fund, Invesco Oppenheimer International Growth Fund, Invesco PureBeta FTSE Developed ex-North America ETF, Invesco Developing Markets Fund, Invesco Taxable Municipal Bond ETF, Invesco Fundamental High Yield Corporate Bond ETF, and by eliminating the following Funds from the Portfolios' construction: Invesco Diversified Dividend, Invesco Equally Weighted S&P 500, Invesco S&P MidCap Low Volatility, Invesco FTSE RAFI US 1500 Small-Mid, Invesco Global Growth, Invesco FTSE RAFI Developed Markets Ex-US, and Invesco FTSE RAFI Emerging Markets, (3) expand the Target Risk Portfolios' offerings by introducing a new Invesco Aggressive College Portfolio, (4) adjust the Target Risk Portfolios' manager construction to mirror the proposed underlying fund changes in the Age-Based Portfolios, (5) provide a more comprehensive investment menu by adding the following Funds: Invesco S&P Low Volatility ETF, Invesco American Franchise Fund, Invesco NASDAQ 100 Index ETF, Invesco Oppenheimer International Growth Fund, Invesco Discovery Mid Cap Growth Fund, Invesco Main Street Small Cap Fund, Invesco Small Cap Value Fund, Invesco Global Focus Fund, Invesco Developing Markets Fund, Invesco Global Real Estate Income Fund, Invesco Core Bond Fund, and Invesco High Yield Fundamental Corporate Bond Fund, (6) eliminate Invesco FTSE RAFI US 1500 Small-Mid ETF from the investment menu and map assets to Invesco Main Street Small Cap Fund, and (7) Eliminate Invesco FTSE RAFI Developed Markets ex-US ETF and Invesco International Growth Fund from the investment menu and map assets to Invesco Oppenheimer International Growth Fund; and (B) with regard to the CollegeBound Saver Program (1) increase the equity exposure within the Age-Based Portfolios' glide path, (2) simplify the Age-Based Portfolios' construction by eliminating Invesco Equally-Weighted S&P 500 and Invesco FTSE RAFI Developed Markets ex-US and redeploying the assets to the existing allocations to iShares Core S&P Total US Stock Market and Vanguard Total International Stock Index, and (3) replace the Equally Weighted S&P 500 Portfolio with an S&P 500 Portfolio, utilizing Schwab 500 Index as the underlying fund.

Asset Allocation Effect - Measures an investment manager's ability to effectively allocate their portfolio's assets to various sectors. The allocation effect determines whether the overweighting or underweighting of sectors relative to a benchmark contributes positively or negatively to the overall portfolio return. Positive allocation occurs when the portfolio is over weighted in a sector that outperforms the benchmark. Negative allocation occurs when the portfolio is over weighted in a sector that underperforms the benchmark and underweighted in a sector that outperforms the benchmark.

Selection Effect - Measures the investment manager's ability to select securities within a given sector relative to a benchmark. The over or underperformance of the portfolio is weighted by the benchmark weight, therefore, selection is not affected by the manager's allocation to the sector. The weight of the security in the portfolio determines the size of the effect -- the larger the security, the larger the effect is, positive or negative.

Interaction Effect - The interaction effect measures the combined impact of an investment manager's selection and allocation decisions within a sector. For example, if an investment manager had superior selection and over weighted that particular sector, the interaction effect is positive. If an investment manager had superior selection, but underweighted that sector, the interaction effect is negative. In this case, the investment manager did not take advantage of the superior selection by allocating more assets to that sector. Since many investment managers consider the interaction effect to be part of the selection or the allocation, it is often combined with either effect.

GLOSSARY OF INVESTMENT TERMINOLOGY

- Allocation Index:

- The allocation index measures the value-added (or subtracted) to each portfolio by active management. It is calculated monthly: The portfolio asset allocation to each category from the prior month-end is multiplied by a specified market index.

- Policy Index:

- A custom benchmark designed to indicate the returns that a passive investor would earn by consistently following the asset allocation targets set forth in the investment policy statement.

Information Disclaimer

- Past performance is no guarantee of future results.
- All investments carry some level of risk. Diversification and other asset allocation techniques are not guaranteed to ensure profit or protect against losses.
- NEPC's source for portfolio pricing, calculation of accruals, and transaction information is the plan's custodian bank. Information on market indices and security characteristics is received from other sources external to NEPC. While NEPC has exercised reasonable professional care in preparing this report, we cannot guarantee the accuracy of all source information contained within.
- Some index returns displayed in this report or used in calculation of a policy, allocation or custom benchmark may be preliminary and subject to change.
- This report is provided as a management aid for the client's internal use only. Information contained in this report does not constitute a recommendation by NEPC.
- This report may contain confidential or proprietary information and may not be copied or redistributed to any party not legally entitled to receive it.

Reporting Methodology

- The client's custodian bank is NEPC's preferred data source unless otherwise directed. NEPC generally reconciles custodian data to manager data. If the custodian cannot provide accurate data, manager data may be used.
- Trailing time period returns are determined by geometrically linking the holding period returns, from the first full month after inception to the report date. Rates of return are annualized when the time period is longer than a year. Performance is presented gross and/or net of manager fees as indicated on each page.
- For managers funded in the middle of a month, the "since inception" return will start with the first full month, although actual inception dates and cash flows are taken into account in all Composite calculations.
- This report may contain forward-looking statements that are based on NEPC's estimates, opinions and beliefs, but NEPC cannot guarantee that any plan will achieve its targeted return or meet other goals.

*IRR refers to the fund's Internal Rate of Return, or the annualized compounded yield on an investment. This calculation is typically applied in private equity where there are multiple points at which capital is invested (capital called) and at which it is distributed. A positive IRR means that the fund's current value plus any cash distributions are greater than the cash value contributed and management fees paid. Typically a fund will have a negative IRR during the first few years of its life, a period referred to as the "J-Curve", because cash is invested upfront and it takes time to generate value. It is important to consider a fund's start date (vintage year) when assessing IRRs. Multiple of investment is another indicator of returns, and is calculated by dividing the fund's cumulative distributions and current value, after fees, by the amount of capital paid in. Please note that performance calculations are specific to the ERSRI investment, and were not prepared, reviewed or approved by the General Partners.

*IRR refers to the fund's Internal Rate of Return, or the annualized compounded yield on an investment. This calculation is typically applied in private real estate where there are multiple points at which capital is invested (capital called) and at which it is distributed. A positive IRR means that the fund's current value plus any cash distributions are greater than the cash value contributed and management fees paid. Typically a fund will have a negative IRR during the first few years of its life, a period referred to as the "J-Curve", because cash is invested upfront and it takes time to generate value. It is important to consider a fund's start date (vintage year) when assessing IRRs. Multiple of investment is another indicator of returns, and is calculated by dividing the fund's cumulative distributions and current value, after fees, by the amount of capital paid in. Please note that performance calculations are specific to the ERSRI investment, and were not prepared, reviewed or approved by the General Partners.

State of Rhode Island 401(a) Performance Summary

As of 2/28/2021

% -ile --> Percentile Ranking in Morningstar Category.

Note: Rankings shown for returns are calculated by Morningstar. Rankings for expense ratio is calculated by TIAA and may differ based on calculation methods.

Morningstar peer rankings include fractional weights for all share classes. Morningstar peer rankings also include ETFs. Depending on the category, this may cause some variances with the category median illustrated in this report since most ETFs are index based options that can include more volatile and less mainstream indices.

SI = Since Inception Annualized Total Return; Incep. Date = Since Inception Date (SI return is calculated from this date).

1. TIAA Stable Value is not an investment for purposes of federal securities laws; it is a guaranteed insurance contract. Therefore, unlike a variable annuity or mutual fund, TIAA Stable Value does not include an identifiable expense ratio. The contract provides a guaranteed minimum rate of interest of between 1% and 3% (before deductions for contract fees). Contract Fees are described in the annuity contract and are collected on a daily basis by way of a reduction to the Declared Rate. Payment obligations and the fulfillment of the guarantees provided for in the contract in the accumulation phase are supported by the assets held in the separate account. If the assets in the separate account are insufficient to meet these obligations, the shortfall is supported by the General Account of TIAA and is therefore subject to TIAA's claims-paying ability. Past interest rates are not indicative of future interest rates. The TIAA Stable Value Inception Date represents the date that the plan's TIAA Stable Value record was initiated on TIAA's recordkeeping system which may be earlier than the date of first deposit to the contract.
2. Calvert Social Index through December 16, 2005; FTSE4Good US Select Index thereafter.
3. Investor share migrated to Admiral share 08/1/2019.
4. Performance shown for periods prior to the inception date reflects the performance of an older share class of the fund/account or underlying fund. Total returns have not been restated to reflect any expense differential between any of the classes. Had the expense differential been reflected, total returns for the fund may have been higher or lower. Category ranks are not available for periods prior to the inception of the fund. Percentile rankings are not shown for State Street Global All Cap Equity Ex-U.S. Index Securities II because Morningstar does not provide a longer history for the product.
5. This Fund is a collective investment trust and is not FDIC insured, nor is it an obligation or deposit of, or guaranteed by State Street Corporation, SSGA or its affiliates.
6. This investment is not a mutual fund. It is a collective trust available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. This collective trust is managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc., and is not a mutual fund. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing.

You cannot invest directly in an index.

Accumulations in mutual funds not managed by TIAA-CREF may be subject to administrative charges. These charges are subject to change. Please review current documents related to your plan.

The expense ratio paid by an investor is the net expense ratio as stated in the prospectus. The net expense ratio reflects total annual fund operating expenses excluding interest expense. If interest expense was included, returns would have been lower. For definitions please visit www.tiaa.org/public/assetmanagement.

Vanguard Index Information available at <http://www.vanguard.com>.

Investing in non-investment grade securities presents special risks, including significantly higher interest-rate and credit risk.

Small-cap and mid-cap stocks may have limited marketability and may be subject to more abrupt or erratic market movements than large-cap stocks.

The risks associated with foreign investments are often magnified in emerging markets where there is greater potential for political, currency, and economic volatility.

Funds that invest in fixed-income securities are not guaranteed and are subject to interest-rate, inflation and credit risks.

Funds that invest in foreign securities are subject to special risks, including currency fluctuation and political and economic instability.

Real estate securities are subject to various risks, including fluctuations in property values, higher expenses or lower income than expected, and potential environmental problems and liability.

Any guarantees under annuities issued by TIAA are subject to TIAA's claims-paying ability. TIAA Stable Value is a guaranteed insurance contract and not an investment for Federal Securities Law purposes.

Target Date Funds share the risks associated with the types of securities held by each of the underlying funds in which they invest. In addition to the fees and expenses associated with the Target Date Funds, there is exposure to the fees and expenses associated with the underlying mutual funds as well.

The principal value of a target date fund isn't guaranteed at any time, including at the target date, and will fluctuate with market changes. The target date represents an approximate date when investors may plan to begin withdrawing from the fund. However, you are not required to withdraw the funds at the target date.

Investment, insurance and annuity products are not FDIC insured, are not bank guaranteed, are not deposits, are not insured by any federal government agency, are not a condition to any banking service or activity, and may lose value.

Morningstar Ranking/Number of Funds in Category displays the Fund's actual rank within its Morningstar Category based on average annual total return and number of funds in that Category. The returns assume reinvestment of dividends and do not reflect any applicable sales charge. Absent expense limitation, total return would be less. Morningstar Percentile Rankings are the Fund's total return rank relative to all funds in the same Morningstar category, where 1 is the highest percentile and 100 is the lowest percentile.

Prospectus Gross Expense Ratio

The percentage of fund assets used to pay for operating expenses and management fees, including 12b-1 fees, administrative fees, and all other asset-based costs incurred by the fund, except brokerage costs. Fund expenses are reflected in the fund's NAV. Sales charges are not included in the expense ratio.

--The expense ratio for fund of funds is the aggregate expense ratio as defined as the sum of the wrap or sponsor fees plus the estimated weighted average of the underlying fund fees.

--Often referred to as the Annual Operating Expense, the Prospectus Gross Expense Ratio is collected annually from a fund's prospectus.

Prospectus Net Expense Ratio

The percentage of fund assets, net of reimbursements, used to pay for operating expenses and management fees, including 12b-1 fees, administrative fees, and all other asset-based costs incurred by the fund, except brokerage costs. Fund expenses are reflected in the fund's NAV. Sales charges are not included in the expense ratio.

--The expense ratio for fund of funds is the aggregate expense ratio as defined as the sum of the wrap or sponsor fees plus the estimated weighted average of the underlying fund fees.

--Net reimbursements, the Prospectus Net Expense Ratio is collected annually from a fund's prospectus.

--TIAA, unless noted, does not charge additional fees for record keeping a fund. 12b-1, revenue share and admin fees are all included in the Prospectus fees. -- Prospectus Net Expense Ratio % - ile rank is the percentile rank for the fund. The better the expense ratio (lower) the lower the ranking out of 100.

TIAA reported performance may differ from Morningstar source returns for the same option over the same time period. We would expect an occasional one to two basis point difference. Morningstar Direct calculates returns by one share owned by hypothetical investor over the requested time period. The return for one year is calculated using the same formula as one month. TIAA calculates returns by $1,000 owned by hypothetical investor for one month then links returns for requested time period. Both set of returns would include dividends and capital gains, if applicable.

457(b) Performance Summary

As of 2/28/2021

% -ile --> Percentile Ranking in Morningstar Category.

Note: Rankings shown for returns are calculated by Morningstar. Rankings for expense ratio is calculated by TIAA and may differ based on calculation methods.

Morningstar peer rankings include fractional weights for all share classes. Morningstar peer rankings also include ETFs. Depending on the category, this may cause some variances with the category median illustrated in this report since most ETFs are index based options that can include more volatile and less mainstream indices.

SI = Since Inception Annualized Total Return; Incep. Date = Since Inception Date (SI return is calculated from this date).

1. Calvert Social Index through December 16, 2005; FTSE4Good US Select Index thereafter.
2. S&P MidCap 400 Index through May 16, 2003; the MSCI US Mid Cap 450 Index through January 30, 2013; and the CRSP US Mid Cap Index thereafter.
3. Russell 2000 Index through May 16, 2003; the MSCI US Small Cap 1750 Index through January 30, 2013; and the CRSP US Small Cap Index thereafter.
4. Investor share migrated to Admiral share 08/1/2019.
5. Performance shown for periods prior to the inception date reflects the performance of an older share class of the fund/account or underlying fund. Total returns have not been restated to reflect any expense differential between any of the classes. Had the expense differential been reflected, total returns for the fund may have been higher or lower. Category ranks are not available for periods prior to the inception of the fund. Percentile rankings are not shown for State Street Global All Cap Equity Ex-U.S. Index Securities II because Morningstar does not provide a longer history for the product.
6. It is important to remember that the TIAA Traditional Annuity is not an investment for purposes of federal securities laws; it is a guaranteed insurance contract. Therefore, unlike a variable annuity or mutual fund, the TIAA Traditional Annuity does not include an identifiable expense ratio.
7. This Fund is a collective investment trust and is not FDIC insured, nor is it an obligation or deposit of, or guaranteed by State Street Corporation, SSGA or its affiliates.
8. This investment is not a mutual fund. It is a collective trust available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. This collective trust is managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc., and is not a mutual fund. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing.

You cannot invest directly in an index.

Accumulations in mutual funds not managed by TIAA-CREF may be subject to administrative charges. These charges are subject to change. Please review current documents related to your plan.

The expense ratio paid by an investor is the net expense ratio as stated in the prospectus. The net expense ratio reflects total annual fund operating expenses excluding interest expense. If interest expense was included, returns would have been lower. For definitions please visit www.tiaa.org/public/assetmanagement.

Vanguard Index Information available at <http://www.vanguard.com>.

Funds that invest in fixed-income securities are not guaranteed and are subject to interest-rate, inflation and credit risks.

Funds that invest in foreign securities are subject to special risks, including currency fluctuation and political and economic instability.

Any guarantees under annuities issued by TIAA are subject to TIAA's claims-paying ability. TIAA Traditional is a guaranteed insurance contract and not an investment for Federal Securities Law purposes.

Target Date Funds share the risks associated with the types of securities held by each of the underlying funds in which they invest. In addition to the fees and expenses associated with the Target Date Funds, there is exposure to the fees and expenses associated with the underlying mutual funds as well.

The principal value of a target date fund isn't guaranteed at any time, including at the target date, and will fluctuate with market changes. The target date represents an approximate date when investors may plan to begin withdrawing from the fund. However, you are not required to withdraw the funds at the target date.

Investment, insurance and annuity products are not FDIC insured, are not bank guaranteed, are not deposits, are not insured by any federal government agency, are not a condition to any banking service or activity, and may lose value.

Morningstar Percentile Rankings are the Fund's total return rank relative to all funds in the same Morningstar category, where 1 is the highest percentile and 100 is the lowest percentile.

TIAA reported performance may differ from Morningstar source returns for the same option over the same time period. We would expect an occasional one to two basis point difference. Morningstar Direct calculates returns by one share owned by hypothetical investor over the requested time period. The return for one year is calculated using the same formula as one month. TIAA calculates returns by $1,000 owned by hypothetical investor for one month then links returns for requested time period. Both set of returns would include dividends and capital gains, if applicable.

Expense Ratio is the total annual fund operating expense ratio from the fund's most recent prospectus. For non-Fidelity fund of funds listed, the ratio shown may solely reflect the total operating expense ratio of the fund, or may be a combined ratio reflecting both the total operating expense ratio of the fund and the total operating expense ratios of the underlying funds in which it was invested. Please consult the fund's prospectus for more detail on a particular fund's expense ratio.

Total returns are historical and include change in share value and reinvestment of dividends and capital gains, if any. Cumulative total returns are reported as of the period indicated. Life of Fund figures are reported as of the inception date to the period indicated.

The management company may be temporarily reimbursing a portion of the fund's expenses. Absent such reimbursement, returns and yields would have been lower. A fund's expense limitation may be terminated at any time.

For any Government or U.S. Treasury Money Market funds listed: You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund's sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to money market funds and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time. Fidelity's government and U.S. Treasury money market funds will not impose a fee upon the sale of your shares, nor temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if the fund's weekly liquid assets fall below 30% of its total assets because of market conditions or other factors.

For any Retail (Non Government or U.S. Treasury) Money Market Funds listed: You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Although the fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1.00 per share, it cannot guarantee it will do so. The Fund may impose a fee upon the sale of your shares or may temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if the Fund's liquidity falls below required minimums because of market conditions or other factors. An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund's sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to money market funds and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time.

For any Institutional Money Market Funds listed: You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. Because the share price of the fund will fluctuate, when you sell your shares they may be worth more or less than what you originally paid for them. The Fund may impose a fee upon the sale of your shares or may temporarily suspend your ability to sell shares if the Fund's liquidity falls below required minimums because of market conditions or other factors. An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. The fund's sponsor has no legal obligation to provide financial support to money market funds and you should not expect that the sponsor will provide financial support to the fund at any time.

A money market fund's current yield reflects the current earnings of the fund, while the total return refers to a specific past holding period.

Performance of an index is not illustrative of any particular investment and an investment cannot be made directly in an index.

Generally, among asset classes stocks are more volatile than bonds or short-term instruments and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments. Although the bond market is also volatile, lower-quality debt securities including leveraged loans generally offer higher yields compared to investment grade securities, but also involve greater risk of default or price changes. Foreign markets can be more volatile than U.S. markets due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, market or economic developments, all of which are magnified in emerging markets.

Before investing, consider the funds' investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses. Contact Fidelity for a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus containing this information. Read it carefully.

PERFORMANCE UPDATE

Voya Retirement Insurance and Annuity Company

State of Rhode Island 457b Plan

Average Annual Total Returns as of: 02/28/2021 (shown in percentages)

Variable annuities and mutual funds offered through a retirement plan are intended as long-term investments designed for retirement purposes. Money distributed from a 403(b) plan, 401(a)(k) plan, or a 457 plan will be taxed as ordinary income in the year the money is distributed. Early withdrawals from a 403(b) plan and a 401(a)(k) plan, if taken prior to age 59 1/2, will be subject to the IRS 10% premature distribution penalty tax, unless an exception applies. This IRS premature distribution penalty tax does not apply to 457 plans. Account values fluctuate with market conditions, and when surrendered the principal may be worth more or less than the original amount invested.

The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. For month-end performance which may be lower or higher than the performance data shown please call 800-232-5422. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that, when sold, an investment may be worth more or less than the original cost.

The below investment options are in Separate Account D. Please note that the figures do not include an adjustment for the Voya Administrative Fund Fee (where applicable) and the deduction of the Daily Asset Charge from the Separate Account (if applicable), or other applicable contract charges. If these fees and charges were included, performance would be less favorable.

The returns assume reinvestment of all dividends (ordinary income and capital gains) and are net of management fees and other fund operating expenses.

You should consider the investment objectives, risks and charges, and expenses of the funds carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other information. Anyone who wishes to obtain a free copy of the fund prospectuses may call their Voya representative or the number above. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing.

Returns less than one year are not annualized. Fund Inception Date is the date of inception for the underlying fund, and is the date used in calculating the periodic returns. This date may also precede the portfolio's inclusion in the product.

Variable annuities and mutual funds offered through a retirement plan are intended as long-term investments designed for retirement purposes. Money distributed from a 403(b) plan, 401(a)/(k) plan, or a 457 plan will be taxed as ordinary income in the year the money is distributed. Early withdrawals from a 403(b) plan and a 401(a)/(k) plan, if taken prior to age 59 1/2, will be subject to the IRS 10% premature distribution penalty tax, unless an exception applies. This IRS premature distribution penalty tax does not apply to 457 plans. The performance data quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. For month-end performance which may be lower or higher than the performance data shown please call 800-232-5422. Investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that, when sold, an investment may be worth more or less than the original cost.

The below investment options are in Separate Account D. Please note that the figures do not include an adjustment for the Voya Administrative Fund Fee (where applicable) and the deduction of the Daily Asset Charge from the Separate Account (if applicable), or other applicable contract charges. The risks of investing in small company stocks may include relatively low trading volumes, a greater degree of change in earnings and greater short-term volatility.

Foreign investing involves special risks such as currency fluctuation and public disclosure, as well as economic and political risks.

Some of the Funds invest in securities guaranteed by the U.S. Government as to the timely payment of principal and interest; however, shares of the Funds are not insured nor guaranteed.

High yielding fixed-income securities generally are subject to greater market fluctuations and risks of loss of income and principal than are investments in lower yielding fixed-income securities.

Sector funds may involve greater-than average risk and are often more volatile than funds holding a diversified portfolio of stocks in many industries. Examples include: banking, biotechnology, chemicals, energy, environmental services, natural resources, precious metals, technology, telecommunications, and utilities.

Additional Notes

(1)Voya Intermediate Bond Fund - Class I has identical investment objectives and policies, the same portfolio manager, and invests in the same holdings as Class A. The performance information above is based upon the Class A performance, excluding sales charges, and has not been adjusted by the fee differences between classes.

(2)Voya Intermediate Bond Fund - Class I: The adviser is contractually obligated to limit expenses to 0.50% through August 1, 2018. The limitation does not extend to interest, taxes, investment-related costs, leverage expenses, extraordinary expenses, and Acquired Fund Fees and Expenses. Termination or modification of this obligation requires approval by the Fund's board.

(3)There is no guarantee that any investment option will achieve its stated objective. Principal value fluctuates and there is no guarantee of value at any time, including the target date. The "target date" is the approximate date when you plan to start withdrawing your money. When your target date is reached, you may have more or less than the original amount invested. For each target date Portfolio, until the day prior to its Target Date, the Portfolio will seek to provide total returns consistent with an asset allocation targeted for an investor who is retiring in approximately each Portfolio's designation Target Year. Prior to choosing a Target Date Portfolio, investors are strongly encouraged to review and understand the Portfolio's objectives and its composition of stocks and bonds, and how the asset allocation will change over time as the target date nears. No two investors are alike and one should not assume that just because they intend to retire in the year corresponding to the Target Date that that specific Portfolio is appropriate and suitable to their risk tolerance. It is recommended that an investor consider carefully the possibility of capital loss in each of the target date Portfolios, the likelihood and magnitude of which will be dependent upon the Portfolio's asset allocation. On the Target Date, the portfolio will seek to provide a combination of total return and stability of principal.

The Voya Solution / Target Date PortfoliosSM are actively managed and the asset allocation adjusted over time. The portfolios may merge with or change to other portfolios over time. Refer to the prospectus for more information about the specific risks of investing in the various asset classes included in the The Voya Solution / Target Date PortfoliosSM.

Stocks are more volatile than bonds, and portfolios with a higher concentration of stocks are more likely to experience greater fluctuations in value than portfolios with a higher concentration in bonds. Foreign stocks and small and midcap stocks may be more volatile than large cap stocks. Investing in bonds also entails credit risk and interest rate risk. Generally investors with longer timeframes can consider assuming more risk in their investment portfolio.
